

Neighbor helps friend escape smoke-filled house

Halton Hills firefighters used smoke ejector to clear the smoke from a Sargent Road house Friday afternoon after an unattended pot on a stove caused a thick cloud of smoke to engulf the house. No one was injured but the occupant was treated for smoke inhalation. Photo by Dianne Cornish

Friday's snowstorm had at least one silver lining when a Sargent Road resident helped a next-door neighbor escape her smoke-filled home.

Pat Cameron was shovelling snow from his driveway when he saw his neighbor Hazel Dumper of 29 Sargent Road trying to find her way out the side entrance of her smoke-filled home. Cameron opened the door from the outside allowing his neighbor to make a speedy exit.

Members of the Halton Hills Fire Department responded to the fire call at 1:54 p.m., Friday. When they arrived, Dumper's house was filled with smoke. Fire officials believe an unattended pot on the kitchen stove caused a small fire that filled the house with smoke.

Firefighters used a smoke ejector to clear the smoke from the house. Smoke damage was estimated at $2,000.

The woman was rushed to Georgetown District Hospital treated for smoke inhalation and released.

Car fire

A car fire of undetermined origin sent Halton Hills firefighters to the corner of Guelph Street and Alcott Drive, Friday at 8:15 p.m.

Damage was estimated at $1,500. No one was injured.

Methane gas alarm

Halton Hills firefighters rushed to the Halton Region water treatment plant on Mountainview Road, Friday at 9:23 p.m. The firefighters were responding to a call from a nearby resident who mistook the burn-off of methane gas at the plant for a fire.
