

Crime Stoppers

Halton Regional Police Detectives in Oakville, Ontario and Crime Stoppers are appealing to the public for any information that will lead to the arrest of a lone gunman responsible for the armed robbery of the CIBC Bank in Oakville, Ontario.

On Tuesday, Nov. 24 at approximately 12:30 p.m., an unknown male suspect entered the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce situated at 1289 Marlborough Court, Oakville. The suspect was wearing a purple balaclava pulled over his head and was carrying a blue knapsack. The suspect approached the #1 wicket teller and was brandishing a black handgun.

The suspect demanded the teller to fill the blue knapsack stating, give me your money, big bills, hurry up. The teller complied.

The suspect then proceeded to the fourth wicket and again demanded large bills in which this teller also complied. The male suspect then exited through the front door and headed in a northerly direction where he got into a dark brown vehicle, late 70's, 4-door, possibly a North American vehicle (possibly Ford make).

The suspect in this armed robbery is described as a male, unknown age or race, approximately 6 feet tall and 165 pounds. No hair color or accent.

He was wearing a purple balaclava, beige sweater with a small colored pattern, grey pants and white shoes, possibly Reeboks. He was carrying a blue knapsack type of bag with white writing on it, possibly —tra.

The weapon is described as a large black dull handgun, possibly 9-mm, no cylinder was seen. The gun was waved around during the offence and was used to motion the victims.

If you have any information that leads to an arrest in this, or any other case, you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000. Please call 1-800-668-5151 or 825-TIPS (That's 825-8477).

Local MD appointed prof in US

A local doctor has been appointed Assistant Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Duke University, North Carolina, a Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital spokesman says.

John Oliver, executive director, extended congratulations to Dr. Jeff Andrews in a media release this week.

Currently an obstetrician/gynecologist at Georgetown Hospital, Dr. Andrews' is now working closely with the hospital's medical and administrative staff to recruit a replacement.

In discussing his decision to move into the academic world, Dr. Andrews is quick to point out that, "I have been very impressed with the high level of patient care provided by Georgetown Hospital's medical and nursing staff."

Dr. Andrews' new position at Duke University will involve both clinical practise as well as academic interests. He and his family will be moving to North Carolina in the new year.

Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital is a 112-bed primary, acute and long term care facility. As a primary health care provider, the hospital is committed to identifying the health care needs for Halton Hills, and developing programs in co-operation with other health care agencies.
