Duignan announces Health ministry funding for housing support programs

Halton North MPP Noel Duignan announced that the Oakville re-entry Homes Acton Project and the Summit House Milton/Georgetown Project have both been approved for provincial funding through the Ministry of Health.

"I'm looking forward to the opening of these new homes," said Mr. Duignan. "They will offer a much needed service to our communities in Halton North".

The Oakville Re-entry Program will provide housing and support in Acton to six people with psychiatric disabilities. The project has been approved for annualized funding in the amount of $57,902 through the Community Mental Health Branch of the Ministry of Health. The organization will also be provided with up to $32,350 as a one-time capital grant. The Ministry of Health has joined with the Ministry of Housing in funding this non-profit housing project which is being built through the Federal-Provincial 1992 housing initiative.

The Summit House Program will provide housing and support to eight people in Halton North. The housing will be located in Milton and Georgetown and has been approved for annualized funding in the amount of $62,154. A one-time capital grant of up to $56,295 will also be provided.

Correction Notice

Our mistake!

In the Saturday, January 23, 1993 edition of Halton Hills This Weekend, an article on page 13 under the heading "Put Home Address on Emergency List" was published minus some important information.

The last paragraph of the article should have read, "The Town of Halton Hills has 9-1-1 emergency service. All residents with 853, 873, 877, 878 or 875 telephone exchanges have access to this service. All other exchanges should call their local Fire Department for information." In error, the reference to the "873" exchange was omitted. Note, the "873" exchange has access to 9-1-1 emergency service.

Public complaints not increasing

During 1992 seventy-five (75) Public Complaints were filed against members of the Halton Regional Police Service by citizens.

The complaints were investigated by the Professional Standards Bureau of the Halton Regional Police Service and monitored by the Office of the Police Complaints Commissioner of Ontario as provided by the Police Services Act.

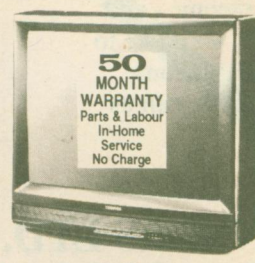

Of the seventy-five (75) Public Complaints, eighteen (18) went to the Chief of Police for his decision as provided by the Police Services Act.

The Chief decided that No Further Action was required on thirteen (13) of the complaints and that five (5) of the complaints were frivolous or vexatious.

As provided by the Police Services Act, there was Informal Discipline in five (5) of the Public Complaints that were adjudicated by the Chief of Police. The discipline ranged from admonishment to five (5) days loss of time.
