

Volunteer work recognized

The 1993 Arbor Award of the University of Toronto will be presented to Tom Ramautarsingh, President of the Canadian College of Teachers (Niagara Chapter) on April 28 at a ceremony in Toronto.

The award recognizes outstanding and superior volunteer service to the university over the years.

The letter of announcement states, "In recognition of your commitment to the University of Toronto, the faculty and staff with whom you interact have chosen to honor you and your fellow alumni volunteers with this award. Your dedication, demonstrated through many hours of volunteer time, is truly an inspiration to us all."

Tom Ramautarsingh, in reply to the announcement said, "It is a surprise and an honor to be made a recipient of this coveted award. I feel it is an obligation to serve one's fellow man and the University of Toronto has provided another avenue where this has happened. I have made a lot of friends through service to Canada's largest university. I am indebted to the university for giving me the opportunity to serve."

Police warn of business scam

Halton Regional Police Detectives from No. 12 Division in Milton want to inform local businesses of a telephone solicitation scheme that has come to light in the Town of Milton.

A local business contacted police after a male person who identified himself as Brett called and was attempting to sell advertising space in a Region of Halton publication. The male called on several occasions during the first two weeks of February and was very persistent.

The caller indicated that he represented the Halton Regional Police Service and when the company stated they did not want to purchase any advertising space, he became very aggressive and abusive on the telephone.

Investigators have received only one complaint at this time but want the business community to be fully aware of the misrepresentation and to report any incidents to the police.

"The Halton Regional Police Service does not subscribe, support or endorse any public or private publications. Further, we do not solicit, nor do we authorize any solicitation for monies for any such cause," said Sergeant Joseph Martin, Media Relations Bureau.

Fabric Care TIPS

GIVE YOUR CLOTHES A FUTURE

To keep your winter fashions looking good season after season, follow these 10 simple rules for storing your warm and woolly items:

1. Clean and dryclean everything before storage. Some stains that are now invisible may darken with age. Also, dirt and food stains are invitations to insects.
2. Make all necessary repairs before cleaning and storing for the season.
3. Store all items in a cool, well ventilated area.
4. Store away from natural and artificial light. Avoid hot attics, damp basements, and garages.
5. Store woollens in cedar chests or in other airtight containers. Pack airtight containers (other than cedar chests) with mothballs suspended above or separate from the clothes, never on them.
7. To decrease wrinkles in sweaters, fold them and wrap in white tissue before storing.
8. Down, like all winter clothing, should be cleaned before end of season storage. Down should be stored loosely, to allow for air circulation.
9. Furs should be stored on a well padded hanger in a cool dark place.
