Ginny Niedorezow owner of Ginny's Diaper Service drives eight hours per day picking up and delivering cotton diapers for many satisfied "little" customers around Halton Hills.

Ginny sports around The Hills in her van Taking Care of Business

If you're thinking conservation, and if you are the parents of a little person from newborn to age three, then Ginny's Diaper Service is the company to deal with! Ginny Niedorezow has been picking up and delivering diapers in the Halton Hills area for three years.

A firm believer in protecting the environment, Ginny researched her subject well and found that 2 per cent of the nations garbage consists of plastic diapers. Because plastic is not biodegradable, disposable diapers linger in our dump sites for many years. "If you dig down 200 feet, you are sure to locate intact, disposable diapers where you expected composted material", she said. A safe truly disposable diaper that is biodegradable seems to be an impossibility at this moment in time.

As a result of these findings, Ginny decided to leave her successful career at The Packaging Group to devote her time to her customers. She offers free pick-up and delivery of 100 per cent cotton diapers twice per week. An attractive deodorized diaper pail is provided for the convenience of her satisfied customers. Ginny's diapers are very easy to use

A coded system ensures her babies always wear the same diapers they originally started out with. No rinsing or pre-soaking is required before they are professionally laundered. As well, Ginny offers Nikky pants for babies at less than retail cost. She also offers pants for adults with incontinence problems, sophisticated toilet training aids, toilet seats and potties.

Mothers and Mothers-to-be, concerned with the health of their children, who consider the environment will be surprised at the low cost of choosing 100 per cent cotton diapers. Call Ginny at 877-0950 - she welcomes all calls for information.
