Changing rural communities

Changing weather changed the date for the Changing Rural Communities program. A winter blizzard forced postponement of the event originally scheduled in March. The evening program is now scheduled for Sunday, April 18, 7:30 p.m., in the Community Hall of Ebenezer United Church, Guelph Line, 6km north of Campbellville. Speakers will include Alex Sim, Bev Slater and Carl Sulliman, with local farmer John Kitching as moderator. Each will make a short presentation and participate in what will undoubtedly be a lively discussion. The audience will also be invited to participate with questions and comments.

has been involved in rural issues for 26 years. Her world-wide experience includes work with the United Church in Zambia, Chair of the London Conference Division of World Outreach, and service on the Board of Directors of Canadian Foodgrains Bank.

Alex Sim is widely read as the author of "Land and Community - Crisis in Canada's Countryside" and "Plight of the Rural Church". He is also Past President of the Rural Learning Association and farmed until 1979.

Carl H. Sulliman, P.Ag., is the CEO of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, the Ontario Agricultural Training Institute and the Agriculture Publishing Company. His experience in government and the rural community gives him a broad perspective on the needs of Ontario's Agricultural Community.

Bev Slater is a dairy farmer who

The evening is organized by the Outreach Committee of Ebenezer Pastoral Charge which includes Arkell, Eden Mills and Ebenezer United Churches. Refreshments will follow the presentation. All are welcome. There is no admission, but donations will be accepted.
