

ASSIC supports multi-service office

At the April 14 meeting of the Acton Social Services and Information Centre Board of Directors, a motion was made "to explore the possibility of opening a multi-service office in Georgetown with additional funding."

This action has been taken because of the increase in calls and enquiries from the Georgetown area and the lack of a similar service.

The Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital received funding from the Provincial Long Term Care office for a Halton Hills Seniors' Study. A Halton Hills Advisory Committee composed of community consumers and providers was organized to see the completion of the study. One of the recommendations was that a multi-service type of operation similar to ASSIC be formed in Georgetown.

The ASSIC Board feels that this service should be started as soon as possible.
