Georgetown Pow Wow

Georgetown will be hosting a Native Children Pow Wow on the weekend of May 29 and 30 at the Gordon Alcott Memorial Arena. This will be a chance for all to see native heritage through dance, music, storytelling and native crafts. There will be face-painting and much more for all to enjoy.

The pow wow committee has six members: Vi Haines, Chairperson; Dorothy Hunt, Secretary; Ed and Jean Cochrane, Indian Liaison and Publicity; Elsie Faulhafer, McDonald's Store Activity Representative and Carol Harper, Treasurer and Advertising.

They have been working together since January 8 to organize this pow wow. There have been native blanket dances at Georgetown Marketplace numerous times to help advertise this event.

Raffle tickets are available for three prizes: an oil painting - "Buffalo Spirit, an Indian blanket and a print.

Town of Halton Hills Mayor, Russ Miller, will draw all three prizes on May 26 at McDonald's at 7:15 p.m.

Also, for advance pow wow tickets please contact Carol Harper at 877-7056.

All proceeds will be donated to Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital.

GLT strikes gold

Georgetown Little Theatre producers Jooyce Holland and Fran Anthony have been awarded gold medals by The Association of Community Theatre-Central Ontario (ACT-CO) at the festival for community theatres in Central Ontario, for their work in the local production The Curate Shakespeare.

The Curate Shakespeare is a comedy about a somewhat raggedy production of As You Like It.

Holland and Anthony received an adjudicator's award for "creativity, imagination, inventiveness, originality and care to realize the over-all production."

In commenting on the award, Anthony felt the whole company shared the credit.

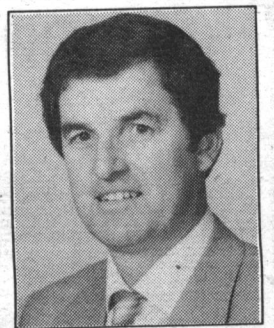

"We don't actually do the work," she said. "The creativity came from the people who actually made the props."
