Stage and screen star visits Norval

By Tom Ramautarsingh
 A star of stage and screen, Cedric Smith joined the festivities last Sunday at Norval Parish Hall celebrating the accomplishments of novelist Lucy Maud Montgomery.

Cedric Smith

Smith was born in Bournemouth, England on September 21, 1043. His parents, Edward and Marjorie, came to Canada in 1953.

In 1956 he won the Canadian Legion Nationwide oratorical contest. His topic was "Alexander Graham Bell". At KCI he organized a trio. They wore Perry Como-style sweaters.

Cedric lined up with Richard Kellan and they called themselves the Perth County Conspiracy. Later he joined with Terry Jones and they produced five albums. In 1963, at age 20, he married Joan Little (18).

He went to Stratford and played in the Black Swan. He sang and made social commentaries. His bicycle was the chief means of transportation in Stratford. In 1964 he auditioned for parts and he appeared as Richard Bolinbroke in Richard II and acted in parts in Henry IV and Henry V.

He had parts in CBC Miniseries' Love and Hate, Who Has Seen the Wind and The Campbells, which was filmed in Georgetown. He played Capt. Sims. He played at Second City in Toronto with the lead role in Che Guevara.

In a one-man theatrical presentation of Billy Bishop Goes to War, he toured Canada and Bermuda for over two years.

In Love and Hate he starred as Tony, the second husband of Joann Thatcher. Other shows he starred in are:

1) Heaven and Earth - a BBC and CBC production;

2) Samuel Hount - the last man hung for treason in Canada. Cedric played the role of William Lyon Mackenzie;

3) In TV series he had parts in Twilight Zone, Diamonds, Adderly, Night Heat, Beyond Reality and Bayou.

He stars in The Road to Avonlea adapted from the Lucy Maude Montgomery novel and did the narration in Titanica. He has also done many commercials. He toured the coffee house circuits in many US university towns.

In 1993 he was awarded the Gemini Award for the best male leading actor in Canada. He sang Children of the Island at this gala event.

Cedric Smith is a folk singer, composer, guitarist and former Stratford Festival actor. His mother lives in Kitchener, his brother Keith in Oakville and his sister Linda in Shakespeare. His father died in 1990. Anne of Green Gables, the Road to Avonlea, the road to Norval and remembrances of Lucy Maud Montgomery are no strangers to Cedric Smith.
