

Recreation and Sports

NORTHEND
NISSAN
 SALES SERVICE LEASING
 HWY. #25 & 401
878-4137 MILTON

RUST CHECK
 610 MARTIN ST., MILTON 878-4137

Pineview Public School on Trafalgar Road, just outside Georgetown, was recently crowned champion of a Fitweek Challenge by the Halton Board of Education in a competition involving nine selected schools from Halton Region in co-ordination with Participation Week. photo by Simon Wilson/HHTW

Accura Molding takes two

By Judy Latto

Accura Molding posted a 3-1 victory over Standard Products in Girls' Under-9 soccer June 15. Scoring single goals for Accura were Julia Bakker, Michelle Hofing and Melissa Williams. Shannon Reynolds and Courtney McGillivray were also outstanding players. Shelley Dagenais scored the goal for Standard Products. Megan Colvin and Andrea Dingwall developed several offensive plays for their team.

Accura Molding again earned a 2-0 win over the Red game the next evening. Michelle Hofing and Melissa Williams each scored one goal while Samantha Allan and Megan McKee provided great offensive play. Noteworthy players for the Red team were Whitney Bucke, Melissa Sommerville and Dawn Burrows.

Leferink Transfer and Burger King struggled to a 2-2 tie. Susanne Leferink and Paige Gregson scored single goals for Leferink. Michelle Boere, Stephanie Bajic and Lisa Butler also played well. Shannon Gray and Mandy Dayment from Burger King kept the heat on Leferink with their single goals. Amanda Varey and Heather Muir proved to be noteworthy players.

Leathertown Lumber and the Green Grasshoppers played to a scoreless tie June 15. Adrienne Van Egmond, Emily Thompson and Jennifer Murray showed special effort for the Leathertown team. The next evening, the same two teams arrived at a 1-1 tie. Melissa Hahn scored a beautiful goal for Leathertown. Kelly Sproule and Jennifer Wallis also played very well.

Defending champs keep rolling

By Leanne Fournier

Only one team remains undefeated in the ladies flag football loop and that is two-time defending champion, Arnie's Body Shop. Arnie's fought back to defeat CIBC by a score of 22-17. In other action, M & M showed their true colors with a trouncing QES 36-0, while JV entered the win column with a 17-12 score over Living Lighting.

Wet weather on Sunday hampered an otherwise interesting aerial display by both squads as CIBC and Arnie's battled for top spot. Arnie's got on the scoreboard first with a field goal, thanks to QB, Caroline McMillan. CIBC marched right back down and Virginia Walker went in for the major. Monica Mastalerz converted to give CIBC the lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, a play to be recorded in the record books took place. Arnie's fielded the kickoff and as the Arnie's player pitched the ball, Nancy Hoover of CIBC picked off the ball and ran it back for a touchdown.

Ladies Flag Football

Before half-time, Arnie's regained their composure and sure-handed Kelly Cunningham picked up her first major for the day. Mastalerz later chipped a single off a missed field goal for CIBC. Kelly Cunningham was not to be outdone as she snagged her second TD to put Arnie's in the lead. With time winding down, Mastalerz made good on a field goal attempt to pull CIBC ahead by 2. Caroline McMillan masterfully moved her charges the length of the field and found Michelle McMillan (no nepotism here) in the end zone to seal CIBC's fate.

In the first game of the day, Brenda Hamilton and Sheri Nairn put on a show with both posting all but four points. Brenda Hamilton had a great day picking up 18 points on three touchdowns while Nairn was not far behind, scoring 14 points. Donna Hamilton scored two 2-point converts to round out the scoring for M & M.

The new shirts must have something to do with the performance of the JV Jets on Sunday as they scored two touchdowns with the help of Lorraine Capreol and Debbie Ferguson. Linda Ferguson chipped in two singles and a field goal. Living Lighting made them earn every point with a tough man-to-man defense. The Lighting squad had touchdowns by Natalie Milton and Laura Lee Barbarosa, but they fell short of their first win of the season.

Simcoe base runner Justin Ferris slides safely into third, just as Georgetown Major PeeWee Rep Capitol Ford third baseman Judd Richardson prepares to make the tag in last weekend's rain-shortened PeeWee baseball tournament at the Fairgrounds. Capitol Ford and Minor PeeWee Cliff Norton both posted 2-1 records but didn't make the final. Westhill (Scarborough) and Southwest London will tangle on a to-be-determined date. photo by Simon Wilson/HHTW

Ruminations from the closet of the sports mind

By Colin Gibson

Well, it's time to don yet another hat, or maybe just change jockstraps, but thoughts on a couple of sports happenings warrant mentioning.

Two Saturdays ago I covered the 2nd Annual Georgetown Branch 120 Royal Canadian Legion track and field meet held at the GDHS track and field facilities.

It was a great day for all concerned and equally great to see the youngsters enjoying themselves in what most definitely was a pressure-free atmosphere devoted to the sheer joy athletics.

In my follow-up article, I wrote that Sacre Coeur was the only Georgetown and area elementary school (out of 13 invited) which didn't have youngsters attend.

I wrote that the reason there weren't any Sacre Coeur youngsters competing was because the invitation hadn't been received in both French and English.

This was passed on to me by a number of people, one of whom, a parent of a Sacre Coeur student who was in attendance to see a friend's kids competing.

Another Sacre Coeur parent informed me they hadn't heard anything about the meet.

No so, according to Lise Gilmore of the Sacre Coeur Parent Teachers Association.

"We received the invitation and translated it into French and had it posted," she said. "But none of our students were interested in taking part."

Unfortunate, indeed.

Lawn bowling

Last Saturday my son Jason and I, representing Halton Hills This Week, took part in the annual CHAMPS (child amputees)-lawn bowling tournament at Georgetown Lawn Bowling Club.

What a wonderful bunch of people.

Despite a persistent downpour (it only stopped when we broke for lunch) not a grumbling word was heard. If anything, those in attendance seemed to take the rain as a challenge to their good spirits and refused to wilt - metaphorically or literally.

The worthy cause attracted teams from the Sons of Scotland, Georgetown Branch 120 Royal Canadian Legion, the British-

As I See It

Canadian Club, the Optimists Club and the George and Dragon.

The tournament was won by the team of Archie Pollock and Orval Paul, representing the Georgetown Legion; John White and Shell Lawr, representing the Optimists placed second, while Chris Wild and myself, representing HHTW placed third.

Jason, who had never looked at a lawn bowl in anger - or in sympathy before - was teamed with Norris Hobbs and placed a creditable sixth.

The people at the club made it a special outing for both Jason and I and thanks as well as congratulations are due to the organizers.

The Georgetown Lawn Bowling Club welcomes new members of all ages and more information on the club can be obtained by phoning Alice Gray at 877-2492.

Lacking in couth

By invitation from the Ontario Jockey Club, HHTW Publisher Ken Bellamy and myself trekked down to Greenwood Raceway Tuesday for the special luncheon set up for the drawing of post positions for tonight's (Saturday) running of the $1 million North America Cup classic.

I must admit, I did feel out of place. But Ken made me feel right at home by suggesting I could help clean up afterward if I wanted to.

I mean, there were BIG BUCKS floating around here and we're not talking Wheel of Fortune.

Horse owners and breeders as well as trainers and drivers from north and south of the border were in attendance and accents (European as well) were thicker than the salad dressing offered at the sumptuous buffet.

In reference to same.

There was shrimp galore (not necessarily the drivers) lobster, oysters, roast beef, smoked salmon and a number of other cold meats and enough varieties of salad to make a rabbit weep and gnash his tusks in delight.

I stuck to the simple stuff, potato salad, roast beef, bun and forsook dessert.

When I hinted at the possibility of a couple of doggie bags, Ken gave me a look that withered two stalks of celery. The lady whose plate they were on wasn't impressed.

The odds-on favorite to stuff his saddle bags in tonight's run for the loot was Presidential Ball, but he got rooked with the number eight starting position and suddenly, eyes, ears and wallets perked up.

I'd go with Beastmaster, but only because the horse - and the name - reminded me of an old flame.

The only downer was the appearance of Toronto Maple Leafs defenseman Dave Ellett; there as special guest to assist in the drawing of post positions.

Ellett turned up in a sports jacket tossed over a nondescript sports shirt, wearing jeans, floppy loafers and no socks.

I mean the guy is getting paid for this, he gets a free meal and he's supposed to be representing the Maple Leafs and Canadians to an international audience.

He mumbled a few words then the post positions draw commenced.

Somewhat lacking in couth.

As I see it, anyway.