

Heritage project is planned for Halton Hills

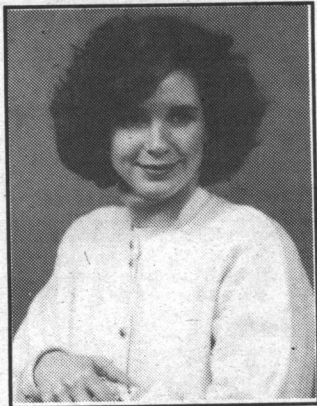

By Pamela Kaufman, Heritage Consultant Heritage Halton Hills

There is a new way of thinking about heritage. It goes beyond historic buildings to include such things as woodlots, hedgerows, roads and bridges which contribute to the character of our rural areas.

Heritage Halton Hills, formerly Halton Hills LACAC (Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee), recognizes that residents in rural areas are an important source of this heritage knowledge. Therefore, we need the support of interested citizens to let us know about the heritage resources that you think are important to our rural landscapes.

Heritage Halton Hills is a citizens' committee which advises town council on any matter relating to the designation and conservation of heritage resources. This can range from identification and designation of heritage properties, providing advice on appropriate preservation, restoration and maintenance techniques as well as supporting local heritage research. Our vision is to prepare for the future through conducting inventories and identifying heritage properties rather than only reacting to requests or threats to their existence. Therefore, our past projects have included inventories and reports on heritage properties and districts as well as a preliminary study concerning the conservation of rural landscapes in Halton Hills.

Through funding from the Town of Halton Hills, and the Ontario Heritage Foundation through a Niagara Escarpment Project Grant, we are embarking on another project. The main focus of

Pamela Kaufman

This project is to discover what local citizens think is of heritage value in the rural areas along the Niagara Escarpment area (Speyside, Limehouse, Silver Creek) as well as Georgetown and Acton, where interested citizens can let us know about what they think is of heritage value and discuss important issues concerning the preservation of rural landscapes.

As the workshops will be limited to 20 people per area, due to time and economic constraints, we will also be holding an open meeting in which the results of the workshop may be reviewed for comment by anyone interested. The results of the workshops and meetings will be documented and presented to the Town of Halton Hills, the Ontario Heritage Foundation and the Niagara Escarpment Commission. Copies will be made available at the local libraries.

Watch this paper for updates on our progress and the fall/winter open meeting date. Anyone who is concerned about the future of rural heritage resources along the Niagara Escarpment and would like to take part in the Heritage Halton Hills workshops this fall, please leave their name and number with the Town of Halton Hills (416) 873-2600 and you will be contacted as soon as possible.
