Help needed for MS bike tour

The Noranda Forest Multiple Sclerosis Bike Tours are one or two day cycling fund-raising events, taking cyclists through scenic routes in rural southwestern Ontario. Participants are provided with a complete package that includes meals, lodging and entertainment as they raise much needed funds for MS research programs and special services for people who have MS and their families.

People are required for a unique weekend of volunteering at the following 1993 Noranda Forest MS Bike Tours:

August 14-15, 1993
 Brampton MS Bike Tour
 Brampton-Halton Hills,
 Guelph-Brampton) - 600 volunteers required;

August 21-22, 1993
 Peterborough MS Bike tour
 (Orono-Peterborough-Orono)

- 250 volunteers required;
 September 12, 1993
 Niagara MS Bike Tour
 (Niagara Wine Region) 200 volunteers required.

Volunteers can join in the fun by assisting with registration, checkpoints along the route, the start/finish line, set up and overnight accommodation at the university campus (Brampton/Peterborough).

Volunteers will receive an Official Multiple Sclerosis Special Events Volunteer T-shirt, meet interesting people, receive specialized training and most importantly, have lots of fun while contributing to the fight against MS.

Multiple sclerosis is the most common disease of the central nervous system of young adults in Canada. MS attacks the insulating cover of the central nervous system called myelin. When myelin is damaged, the transmission of nerve impulses is slowed or blocked resulting in a wide variety of symptoms, including extreme weakness, vision problems, loss of balance and coordination, even paralysis. MS most often strikes people between the ages of 20 and 40. Women are affected almost twice as often as men.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society and its affiliated chapters service 53 people in Halton Hills.

Optimist tourney raises over $3,500

By Colin Gibson

Under blue skies and wafting breezes on the well-groomed Georgetown Golf and Country Club links last Monday, young people again came away the real winners in the Georgetown Optimist Club sponsored 12th Annual Mayor Russ Miller's Charity Trust Scramble Golf Tournament.

The Optimist Club tournament committee, co-chaired by John Fendley and Shell Lawr, did a masterful job, lining up 136 prizes from generous area and business sponsors (cash valued at just over $3,000) and put on a scrumptious post-tournament dinner to boot.

When the last divot had been replaced and the last pangs of hunger and thirst slaked, it was estimated the Optimists had raised in excess of $3,500 for their youth Substance Abuse Program.

The charity tournament attracted 100 area golfers for the foursomes best-ball event and while the Georgetown Optimist Club proved gracious hosts, they take their golf seriously.

The Georgetown Optimist Club foursome of Shell Lawr, John Fendley, Scott Naylor and Scott Campbell won the tournament, while the Milton Optimist Club foursome of Mike Fascinato, Frank Wetsellar, Sam Bell and Warren Kelly won the service club segment of the affair.

A tip-of-the-tee to the Georgetown Optimist Club for a job well-done.

Lopsided scores highlight play

By Colin Gibson

Lopsided scores were the order of the day last Sunday in Georgetown Men's Flag Football League action at the GDHS field.

Meznic whipped Plus Welding 29-8; Dawgs tore a strip off Muscle Pit, 46-6 and Longhorns thoroughly dominated M&M Pro Sports in stampeding to a 49-0 whitewash.

The results leave the Dawgs and the Longhorns tied atop the league standings, each sporting 5-1 records.

Meznic 29 Plus Welding 8

For the second game in a row, the previously charged-up Welders came up flat and Meznic parlayed a strong second half into a win.

Meznic held a tenuous 9-7 lead at the half, then the spark went out of the Welders. The eventual winners put 20 points on the board in the second half to but a single-point reply from Plus Welding to seal the win.

Hal Hulme paced the winners with eight points; Randy Lunn, Rob Spiteri and Kevin Brown scored touchdowns, while Dale Mieczanec kicked a field goal.

Brian Beaumont scored the Plus Welding major with Darryl Weir kicking two points.

Mitch LeBlanc took over the Meznic quarterbacking reins in the second half and looked completely in control.

Marcus Noel had an interception for the Welders.

Dawgs 46 Muscle Pit 6

To suggest that the colleague leading Dawgs merely took a bite out of the Muscle Pit crew in this laughter would be akin to comparing Jurassic Park to a petting zoo.

Muscle Pit even lost the pre-game coin toss - which should have been the first hint that trouble was brewing.

Dawgs led 24-6 at the half, then counted 22 unanswered second half points to lock up the win.

Al Pelland scored 16 points for the Dawgs; Serge Lebel scored 14 points; Dennis Hanley and Tim Wysocki each scored majors and Dave Clements and Linus Stasiulis each contributed two scoring points.

For the outgunned Muscle Pit, Todd Demone scored the lone touchdown.

Longhorns 49 M&M 0
 Once again M&M shot themselves in the collective foot - or rather, they attempted to, but missed.

An offense firing blanks, combined with a defense particularly susceptible to the long ball allowed the 'Horns to graze at will.

Longhorn quarterback Mike McCandless was dead on the mark with his passing in this one-sided game that had the green and whites leading 21-0 at the half.

The herd rambled on for 27 more second half scoring points.

Mark Hamilton - sporting new footwear - led the Longhorn charge with 18 scoring points. Rob Rivers, Bill Taylor, Bob Davey and Jim Lindsay each scored majors while Dave Patterson kicked seven converts.

Jim Lindsay had an interception for the 'Horns, with Jack Proudfoot replying in kind for M&M.

Upcoming Games (Sunday, July 18)

08:45 a.m. - M&M vs Dawgs
 10:00 a.m. - Muscle Pit vs Meznic
 11:15 a.m. - Plus Welding vs Longhorns

Poetry in motions

By Rod Beaumont

Thank you, Blue Jays. If not for your horrific slump, the fans at Fenway and Camden Yard would have nothing to cheer about except for "there's always next year". Thank you, Tigers and Yankees; your ineptness has enabled our beloved Blue Jays to remain in first place and not out of the permanent race.

Remembering an old poem we know, oh so well, that if those boys of summer should falter, there will be no joy in "Hogtown" tonight, for mighty Cito has struck out at last.

With apologies to my high school English teach, Bill Bingham, here goes:

"Last week, white balls were on critique

The game of snooker I chose this week.

Red ones, blue ones, brown ones, pink;

Black ones, green ones all you sink.

In a poolhall where angles are cut so fine,

In math class we can't even draw a line!

A table shows the impor-

Rodent's Racket

tance of speed, touch and refraction;

In physics we'd rather see our teacher in traction.

The learning process is a strange procedure

I think we'd do better with a pool table as teacher!"

Bill said I'd never be a poet, and I've proven him right.

Brian Hayward's 3-on-3 Street Hockey has gained in popularity and four local youths have qualified for the finals on August 27 at the CNE.

Winning their age class of 8 and 9 year olds in the Brampton qualifying tournament were Matt Fielding, Dan Walinga, Jeff Boyce and Brent Beaumont.

Congratulations and good luck in Toronto!
