POOL & SPA Tips with Mike Finn

FOR CLOUDY WATER, THE SOLUTION IS CLEARLY BIOGUARD

Okay, you think you've tried everything and the pool is STILL cloudy. What can you do? First, realize that you are not alone. Cloudy water is one of the most common problems in the pool. Your BioGuard® dealer can suggest the right treatment for your pool to help you clear up the problem.

Understanding a little about cloudy water may help prevent its occurrence and keep your pool enjoyable day in and day out.

Basically, all clouding problems are the result of inefficient filtration. Tiny particles, such as dirt, dust, pollen or bacteria are so small that they slip through the filter and return to the pool, where they cloud the water.

Solving the problem means one of two things needs to be done - either increase the efficiency of the filter or increase the size of the particles.

First, check the filter to make sure it is operating properly and if any corrections need to be done, do them now. If the filter is working, help it along by adding BioGuard® Sparkle-Up®. Sparkle-Up® works by trapping and holding particles in the filter.

Next, add Polysheen® water clarifier to the pool. Polysheen® combines small particles into larger masses that can be filtered out. If the cloudiness is particularly severe, use BioGuard® Liqui Floc™. Be sure to follow all label directions carefully before use.

Remember these tips for clearing up cloudy water:

- Balance water correctly.
- Check the filter and chlorination system.
- Remove algae.
- Increase efficiency of filter with Sparkle-Up®.
- Increase particle size with PolySheen® or Liqui Floc™ if cloud is particularly persistent.
