

Acton Citizens Band to entertain Sunday afternoon

By Harry Norton

This week, it's ladies first - Betty Green the recording secretary of our Ladies Auxiliary passes on this message, "Regular meetings have resumed after our summer break. The first meeting was held Sept. 2 with 20 members present."

Meetings are held the first Thursday of the month at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Dates to circle

Sports kick off with Zone Euchre today (Saturday) at the Georgetown Legion. Bowling in Oakville next Saturday. For the Acton Fall Fair weekend, next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Eva could use some help in the kitchen as the ladies will be serving lunch from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. at $5 per person.

Sept. 26, Lily Higgins is organizing a trip to Sunnybrook. If you can attend, leave your name on the board at the lounge. Bus leaves at 12:30 p.m. and returns at 4:30 p.m.

Now for Legion News: Bridge as usual Wednesdays, on Sept. 1, there were no winners. Euchre (14) tables Sept. 2, with the following winners: 1st, Doreen Barfoot; 2nd, Marian Crabtree; third - no name and 4th, Buzzy ??.

Hidden scores, Gord Aitken and Lloyd Neville.

Beef draw winners last Saturday included: Early Birds; Joyce Buchanan and Bob Angel. Regular winners; Jon Toebes, Dugald Dick, H. Adams, Steve Pappilion, Elizabeth Chamberlain, Pat Willmott, Harold Townsley, Gord McCutcheon, Harold Badham, John Ramsbottom and Barb Andrews. Big Prize went to Neil Fulford.

Coming Events

Bridge and Euchre as usual Wednesdays and Thursdays, with the meet draw today (Saturday). Don't forget the Acton Citizens Band Concert tomorrow (Sunday) at 3 p.m. Bring your lawn chair. If it rains, we'll all go inside.

This Monday, the General

Meeting will be held in the auditorium. Come out and hear what's going on. It's an ideal time to let your executive know if you are satisfied and if not, to let them know what you think the Branch should be doing.

By the way, Al Moss is trying to contact all the Crew Chiefs for a special meeting. If you haven't heard from Al, give him a call.

Photography Exhibit will capture the eye

Seeing the unseen through photography is the subject of Aperçu: Unseen Visions, a new exhibit opening at the Halton Region Museum this Monday. Consisting of 24 photographs, the exhibit, which is on loan from the National Archives of Canada, explores ways in which photography expand human ability to see.

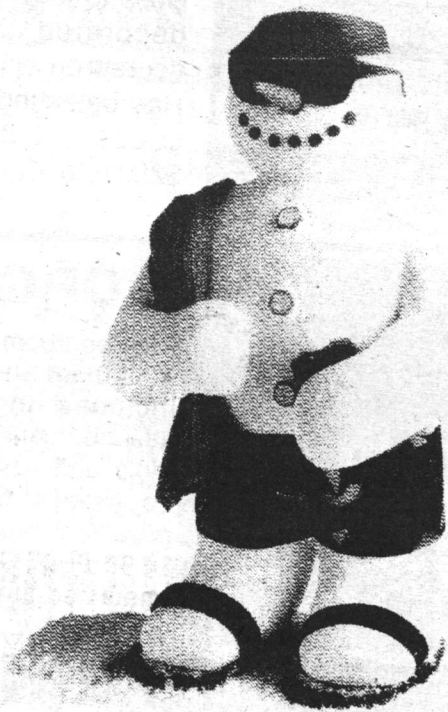

Like the human eye, photography shows depth, movement and color. Unlike that of humans, however, the photographic eye can stay open for longer periods to record what we cannot see. Pluto and its moon, Charon, were both discovered in this century as traces of light in photographs. Photography also captures movement too quick for humans to appreciate. While the eye sees a high-jumper going over the bar, and the human mind is able to recall the action as a whole, only the camera captures a lasting image of the high-jumper in mid-air.

Aperçu: Unseen Visions also explores the capabilities of photography to use non-visible light in beneficial ways. The discovery of X-rays in 1895 has made it possible to look inside the human body without the use of invasive surgery. Computer-produced images using infrared light can be used in remote sensing. In ordinary photography, infrared light helps surveyors work on hazy days.

Aperçu: Unseen Visions will be on display at the Halton Region Museum from this Monday until Dec. 17. The Museum is open daily Monday to Friday from noon to 4 p.m. It is located west of Milton in Kelso Conservation Area, on Regional Road 28. Admission is by voluntary donation.
