GTHBA consumer seminars

Providing the public with in-depth information from renovation professionals will be the focus of four consumer seminars sponsored by the Greater Toronto Home Builders Association (GTHBA) Renovation and Redevelopment Council.

The free seminars will be held during National Renovation Month (October) and will include valuable advice on how to choose a professional renovator, financial options, contractual obligations and preventative measures to ensure a trouble-free renovation.

The GTHBA renovation video, Call the Council, will be shown and educational publications from GTHBA, including Professional Renovation Magazine, will be available free of charge.

"Successful renovations rarely occur without careful planning. Homeowners have tremendous expectations when they decide to renovate, so being organized and clear on what's required is essential," said Council Chair Michael Godfrey.
