

Bits & Pieces of Acton News

• Lights, Camera, Action! The Acton McDonald's was filled with cameras and lights, on July 31st, as crews were busy filming commercials for the fast-food chain. The Acton location was chosen as it was recently renovated and suited the current McDonald's branding, according to officials. Details on the products being promoted and when the commercials would be released were not disclosed, but be sure to keep your eye out on TV as they could be released sometime soon! (Scott Brooks photo)

• Knox Presbyterian Church of Acton is hosting a Craft Sale on Saturday, October 28th. If you or you know someone who has been busy crafting, consider renting a table for $30.00. To reserve your spot, call 905-299-3228 or email Susan Allen - susanallen.acton@gmail.com.

• It may still be some time before Christmas, but Light Up The Hills is currently seeking volunteers to help set up lights for the large displays that can be seen throughout December and early January in Acton, Georgetown, and Glen Williams. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer, you can send an email to info@lighupthehills.com.
