Although there could be some minor difficulties due to construction, we are sure that, with the help of the Halton Hills engineering department and the police, the parade will run smoothly.

It promises to be a good parade and for the first time in Georgetown, the Salvation Army will participate complete with one of their bands which are so synonymous with the Christmas season.

Other bands participating are: The Shriners, Acton Citizen Band, Streetsville Legion Pipe Band, Milton Pipes and Drums, Mississauga Royal Flash, Scarborough Sea Cadets and Georgetown Air Cadets. The local army cadets will be marching and the Georgetown gymnasts will be performing.

We are also expecting representation from the Georgetown High School - local baseball, soccer and hockey groups as well as Cubs and the Optimist Chicken Club and Georgetown Figure Skating Club.

Children should bring their Christmas lists to the parade where, traditionally, they will be picked up by the post office staff.
