Amnesty International hosts a Coffee House

By Rosaleen Garneau
 Special to HHTW

Amnesty International, Halton Hills, is leading the way in the revival of Coffee House entertainment as presenting local musicians, 7:30 p.m. this coming Saturday, St. John's United Church, 11 Guelph St., Georgetown.

For the past 31 years Amnesty International, independent of any government, political persuasion or religious creed, has acted to protect people around the globe from violations of their human rights.

The Halton Hills group, now in its second year, is diligently working for the immediate and unconditional release of Israel M. Gonzalez Leyva, sentenced in his native Cuba to 10 years imprisonment for trying to peacefully express his political views and exercise his rights to freedom of expression and/or association.

A number of artists from the Georgetown area have agreed to donate their time and talents next Saturday evening in support of this drive, and numerous other letter writing campaigns in which the Halton Hills group is involved.

The evening will be hosted by organizer, Jim Broughton, who will encourage sing-alongs to the Canadian folk songs of Stan Rogers and Gordon Lightfoot.

Well-known pianist, music director and teacher, Haydn Evans, will draw on his large repertoire to offer a mix of classical and modern music.

Also visiting the stage is very talented, repeat performer, Brent Cooper, on his new acoustic guitar. Janice Giddings, Phil Lewin and Kent Neame will play Jazzy Blues while Steve Ruggle, Mike Whaling and Dave Haffey include some Beatles' classics in their segment featuring 60's rhythm and blues.

Admission to this evening of great entertainment, combining local talent with a world-wide cause, can be had for $4 adults, seniors and students $2.

Along with a variety of tea, coffee and sweets, Christmas cards will be available. Cards are also available by calling 873-0633.

Purely Pastels

"Purely Pastels", the Ontario group of pastel painters will hold their 2nd Annual Open Juried Show from Dec. 4 to Jan. 21 at the Oakville Municipal Building, 1225 Trafalgar Road, Oakville.

This particular exhibition will not only feature members of the association but also pastel works by other artists who use the medium. It will be an excellent opportunity for those who are enjoying the increasing popularity of this historic art form to see a juried show of new and established pastel painters.

The timing of the show is very fortuitous for those who wish to celebrate Christmas by receiving or giving a unique art work - what could be nicer!

Anyone wishing to find out more about the association, its exhibitions and workshops should contact the president Ursula Reese in Campbellville at 905-854-0887.
