

Parade You

by Margaret Vint

Two weeks ago, downtown celebrated Halloween with 'Trick or Treat' Saturday. The businesses shelled out lots of treats to the children who were all decked out for the occasion.

Entrants for the Costume Contest ranged in age from 2 to 13 years. Children and adults, all 100 of them, joined the parade of costumes along Main Street. Village Constable Nick Leoni talked to the children about safety when trick or treating and led the parade, while Lulu the musical clown brought up the rear.

And what a parade it was with all those terrific costumes! To name a few: Tweety, Sylvester, Bat Man, Cogsworth, Captain Picard, Robin Hood and a fireman, complete with wagon and bell!

It certainly wasn't an easy task for the judges to choose only three winners but they did it and prizes were awarded to Jennifer Curzon (ladybug), Brent Emigh (Elvis) and Laura Takahashi (Mrs. Potts). Thank you to all who joined us for this fun day.

Now that it's November, the popular topic of conversation is Christmas and people are talking about another busy month as they prepare for this special time of year. And speaking of the Christmas Season, here are some of the events you can look forward to in downtown over the next few weeks, beginning with the Lions Club Santa Claus Parade, today, Saturday, November 13th.

The Annual Christmas Colouring Contest is now underway. The contest is open to children 12 years and under and entry posters can be picked up from the stores. Three prizes (each $25 Downtown Dollars) will be awarded by Santa on Saturday, December 11th. Make sure entries are in by November 30th (full details on entry posters).
On Sunday, November

This week featuring... YONG 877-5106

Owner Guy Yong offers excellent Chinese dishes. Call Guy at 877-5106 and make your reservation.

If you are searching for delicious Chinese food, Yong's Restaurant at 109 Main St. S. in downtown Georgetown is the place for you! All manner of Chinese, as well as Canadian foods, are available from a varied menu.

The proprietor of twenty-one years, Guy Yong, emigrated to Canada from British Guiana in the Caribbean, with his new wife, Monica. They were soon joined by their first born daughter, Margaret, now attending Queens University in Kingston and later by a second daughter, Maureen, who attends Georgetown and District High School. The cooler climates attracted the young couple to the Georgetown area in 1972.

Hard work and long hours have proven to be the key to Guy's success in his field.

There has been very little change in his hobbies through the years. His familiar fish tank and his collection of stamps. Most of all, Guy is a devoted father and a Georgetown people.

In twenty-one years of changes in the food industry, Guy was called upon to change his menu. Today, he is familiar with most of the current restaurant offers.

"Appetites have changed. Guy. From total gourmet meals, most people have become conscious of their food choices for low cholesterol as fat diets have prompted
