IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Jeremiah Fendley

With Special Thanks to Jeff Boudreau

Jeremiah Fendley

Kicken cold chillen nineteen ninety-two It was a bad year for quite few November twenty-sixth was the day Raining real bad when he passed away While playing volley ball he went down In middle of the gym on the ground Doctor, teacher, parent, classmate All tried to help but it was too late He was announced dead on the scene That's when things started to get mean Punches were flying, holes in the wall Tears were pouring, thinking of the 8-ball People going nuts, going insane G'N'R's playing November Rain A good sports man, one of the best, Put any challenger to the test He was only seventeen what a shame Lost his life to a volley ball game Why him we ask, well nobody knows It goes to show that everyone goes Kind of makes you think, who's next to go? Friend, relative, yourself, you never know Just remember people come and people go!

Listen close while my story's being told It was funeral day and it was cold A town gathering, nothing but silence A lot of tears but no more violence The whole town was all under one roof Looking at him was their only proof Still wondering about what went wrong They still can't believe that he's gone Staring at him while walking the aisle He looked alive with his perfect smile Hugged his mom, shook dad's hand That was when my tears ran Down my face it wasn't fair Pale, couldn't breathe, needed air I headed outside, well ready to burst Sat and watched, while they loaded the hearse Everyone was quiet with nothing to say The hearse was loaded and on its way Got to his grave and they put him down That's when I chose to go back to town The 8 ball's rolling there's a lot of pain It's very cold in this November rain.

It's been many months and many days Up on the hill is where his body lays People go up to see their lost peer Pay respects have a smoke shed a tear They would look above and then below They get upset and then they'd go Tears and hugs, kisses and more There's now more love than there was before One minute your parting having a good time Something reminds you then he's on your mind Wherever you go you feel he's there You're always depressed and it's not fair Why did they have to take him away Now all we do is just sit and pray Everyone still wondering what went wrong How could it happen with a heart so strong He went so fast just like a bang At least we know there was little pain Well he's gone now so R.I.P. We love you from friends and family So if you can hear us from up above We want you to know we send our love

Jeff Boudreau
