Georgetown hospital tree-lighting campaign

Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital is again gearing up for its annual Tree-lighting Campaign, which will run from this Wednesday through Dec. 9. All proceeds from this campaign will go towards a new interpretive Electrocardiograph (ECG) machine used by Emergency Services to diagnose conditions.

John Oliver, the hospital's Tree-lighting Campaign chair, is very enthusiastic about this third fund-raising effort and says, "When we first began this Christmas fund-raiser during our 30th anniversary celebrations in 1991, we received tremendous support from Halton Hills' residents. Our 1993 goal is to build on that support through even greater community involvement."

The 1993 Tree-lighting Campaign will kick off with a display at Georgetown Marketplace Mall, from Dec. 1 to 5. Featured at the booth will be information on the interpretive ECG machine and some of the many services available at Georgetown hospital. As well, the community will have a chance to donate to the campaign and take the "Healthy Lifestyle Challenge."

If you would like more information on the 1993 Tree-lighting Campaign, or wish to make a donation, please contact the hospital's Administration Office at 873-0111, Ext. 241.

Established in 1961, Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital is a 112-bed primary, acute care and long-term-care facility. As a primary health care provider, the hospital is committed to identifying the health care needs for Halton Hills, and developing programs in cooperation with other health agencies.

The Hospital's mission is: as your health care partner, we will enhance the quality of life in our community.
