Casting call goes out for GLT show Promenade

By Peter Roe
GLT Publicity

Director Jacky Willows' next production hits the John Elliott Theatre stage in February, but the shoes of the characters of David V. Robinson's Promenade all need to be filled first! Promenade is "a heavenly chunk of life," enthuses Willows. "It doesn't miss anything as far as people, attitudes, behaviors - plus it's a little naughty to boot!" laughs Jacky. "It's a real challenge for any actor who's interested. It's a real challenge for me."

Boasting a cast of three males and one female, Promenade depicts four successive generations of the same family from 1895 to 1975, thereby challenging the actors with several roles!

Auditions will be held at 33 Stewarttown Road (GLT headquarters), Dec. 14 and 15 at 7:30 p.m., following the Christmas production, Mother Goose.

The Georgetown Children's Chorus presented the "Sounds of Christmas" last Sunday at the John Elliott Theatre to the delight to those who attended.

Mother Goose set design all-consuming

By Peter Roe
GLT Publicity

Returning to put sparkle into a Georgetown Little Theatre set this Christmas is none other than Jacky Willows, whose fairy tale vision is expressed through the bright colors of the scenery in GLT's upcoming Mother Goose.

A Jack(y) of all trades, Willows has participated in almost all facets of the theatre, including set design and even directing! You may recall Opera Comique - nominated for two Thea awards.

Jacky has been painting for GLT "one show short of 10 years," but has found her talents stretch to Globe Productions as well (Mikado, Into the Woods, Oliver!), collecting a slew of praise with each effort! Exactly how long does it take to complete a full set?

"I can paint a backdrop in three days. Preliminary set design could take 36 hours.

When you come down to the finishing of the set - it depends on how many sections the set has - a day here, a day there. It's very time consuming when you can only allot your family 12 hours a week!"

Nominated also for her designs (The Curate Shakespeare) as well as her paintings (Night Must Fall - a director's special award!), Jacky's current work will help dazzle the young and young-at-heart, when they come to see Mother Goose this Friday (7:30 p.m.) Saturday and Sunday (3 & 7:30 p.m.) at the John Elliott Theatre, 9 Church St. in Georgetown.

Tickets are $7 each or $5 for groups of 20 or more!

There are still plenty of excellent seats for the evening performances, so be sure to get yours today!

Visit Hallmark, Young's Pharmacy, Oxbow Books, Delrex Smoke Shop or the

John Elliott Theatre box office (Tuesdays and Thursdays, 4-8 p.m.) for yours! Hurry, for there are only five show before Ms. Goose flies the coop! Please phone 877-2321 for more information. See you at the theatre!

Tree Lighting

Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital's annual tree-lighting festivities will be held Thursday (tomorrow) 7-to-8 p.m. outside the hospital's front lobby. This year's event will feature not only the tree-lighting ceremony but a special guest of honor from the North Pole who will throw the illumination switch. To round out the festive celebrations, the program includes carol singing, hot chocolate, hot apple cider and sweets.

"This celebration provides Georgetown hospital staff and board members with an opportunity to formally thank the community for supporting our 1993 Christmas Tree-lighting Campaign for a new Interpretive Electrocardiograph (ECG) machine," says John Oliver, Georgetown hospital's Chair of the Tree-lighting Campaign. For further information on the 1993 campaign and festivities, please contact the Hospital's Administration Office at 873-0111, Ext. 241.
