

July - Firefighters busy with blazes

Halton Hills firefighters had been busy from June 27 controlling fires that have been plaguing area buildings. The 140-year-old Hollywood Tavern on Guelph St. burned down, causing $250,000 damage. The Fire Marshall's Office, which took over the investigation, was not able to determine the cause of the fire.

Three days later, at 6:45 p.m., firefighters were called to the historic Barber Mill on Maple Ave. in Georgetown, when a passer-by spotted smoke coming out of the building. Firefighters quickly extinguished this fire. But another fire at the same location, which began several hours later, kept firefighters on the scene until 4 a.m. the next morning. They returned to the scene four hours later to finish battling the blaze which made floors unsafe to walk on, and specific areas unreachable. The Mill smoldered for almost the entire day. There was no estimate of the damage and the cause of the blaze was not determined.

Two days after the Barber Mill blaze, at 4:40 in the morning, firefighters were "fully involved" in a garage fire on the corner of Market and Mill St. in Georgetown. They battled the blaze, the cause of which was undetermined, for almost four hours. Damage was estimated at $5,000. A car parked in front of the garage, was completely destroyed, resulting in a further $1,000 damage. Before the firefighters were able to contain the fire, it spread to the Halton School of Dancing, on Mill St., and caused an additional $10,000 damage. "It's been a while since we've seen things like this" admitted Norm Lockhurst of the Halton Hills Fire Department. "Sometimes they (fires) just go in spurts."
