Flurry of accidents

Snow flurries on New Year's Day resulted in a flurry of single car accidents in the Halton Hills area - three in as many hours.

A 64-year-old Etobicoke woman, traveling northbound on Guelph Line, slowed down her vehicle to take make a right hand turn on 20 Side Road in the early afternoon and lost control of her car on a patch of snow. The car left the road, rolled over and ended up in the ditch. The woman was not hurt.

Shortly afterwards, on 10 Side Road in Georgetown, an 18-year-old Mississauga man had his car skid on packed snow, slide into a ditch, hit a telephone pole - snapping it in half - and wind up getting the vehicle stuck in a barbed wire fence behind the pole. No injuries resulted from the accident.

Half an hour later, another car, driven by a 20-year-old Georgetown man northbound on Argyll Rd. near Barber Dr., drove into deep slush on the side of the road and lost control of his vehicle. The car struck the curb and knocked down two small trees on the boulevard.

Car theft attempts

Even cars in driveways were fair game for thieves who tried three times in three consecutive days to steal vehicles.

A 24-year-old Georgetown woman exited her Shelley St. home in Thursday to find her driver's side door ajar and a round ignition casing and screwdriver on the passenger's seat. An air pressure gage had been stolen.

The following day, a locked vehicle was stolen from a Prince Charles Dr. home in Georgetown. Two young offenders, both from Toronto, were arrested and one was charged with possession over $1,000 and possession of burglary tools.

On Saturday, a culprit tried unsuccessfully to break into a vehicle parked on Chelvin Dr. in Georgetown. No entry was gained but damage was caused to the driver's side door.

Glen study public meeting

Heritage Halton Hills has scheduled a public meeting regarding the Glen Williams Heritage Conservation District Study at the Glen Town Hall, 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday). This meeting is a follow-up to last September's presentation of the Draft Study documents carried out by Heritage Halton Hills in 1992 and 1993.

The purpose of the Thursday meeting is to discuss ideas regarding the formation and organization of a

Glen Williams Resident's Committee. Discussion will focus on the means by which a committee could be formed who should be represented and its mandate. The committees' primary focus will be to assist Heritage Halton Hills in formulating design guidelines for future development and infrastructure upgrades in Glen Williams and the ongoing administration of a Heritage Conservation District.

Heritage Halton Hills intends to table recommendations and public comment to the Town Council of Halton in 1994, followed by an Ontario Municipal Board Hearing and enactment of a Designation By-Law.

The meeting will be chaired by Steve Foster, current Chairman of Heritage Halton Hills. For more information, contact Eric Connolly at 877-0739 or 877-6065.

Activities take bite out of winter

By Eileen Ross

January 3rd marked the return of students and staff to area school after the hustle and bustle of the Christmas holidays. Luckily, there are enough activities at Halton Hills schools in January to make the transition back to school easier and more enjoyable.

Harrison Public School in Georgetown will have an excursion for their kindergarten students to the Police Safety Village, located on the grounds of Halton Region's administrative offices outside Oakville, this Friday. Students will learn about safety and streetproofing. French Immersion information will be sent home with kindergarten students sometime during the first week back to school as well. On Jan. 13 the students of Harrison will be treated to a performance called the Numbers Game at 9:30 a.m.

A Kennedy Connection meeting will be held at George Kennedy Public School in Georgetown on Jan. 20, at 7 p.m. in the library. Parents are invited to attend.

At the December meeting, the possibility of using the profits from cheese sales to help the school upgrade technology by contributing toward the purchase of three Color Monitor computers, was discussed. Discussion will continue at the January meeting.

The school will be writing to the town to request an opportunity for input into any future reductions in crossing guards.

An information night on the Common Curriculum - the new curriculum for elementary schools - will be sponsored in early spring to update parents.

The YMCA of Greater Toronto operates a school-age program at George Kennedy for children 6-12 years-of-age. At the present time, there are a few openings in the program. If you require more information, contact Caroline Browning at 853-0909.

The students at Mackenzie-Smith Middle School in Acton will be enjoying ski trips at Kelso, near Milton, during the first few weeks back to school. Grade 6 students will have their trip Jan. 10; the Grade 7 students on Jan. 17 and the Grade 8 students on Jan. 18. Staff and parents will be supervising the three ski trips.

Adult day classes at Georgetown District High School will begin on Feb. 7. The courses being offered are English, Math, Computers, Business and Career Explorations. Registration will take place in January. To register for adult education classes, contact Sue Grant at 877-6966.
