

M-S Girls' b-ball squad struggling

M-S REPORTER

The McKenzie-Smith Boys' basketball outfit continued their mediocre tournament play with a 33 per cent success rate at the Sam Sharratt tournament in Milton on the weekend.

After falling to Stewarttown on Friday, the Mustangs came up with a 54-49 edging of Our Lady of Victory Saturday to put them in the consolation final against Centennial.

Unfortunately, the local squad couldn't carry the momentum over to the final and succumbed 58-35. However, a defeat to the superior Centennial cagers will better prepare the Mustangs for the playoffs.

Against Our Lady of Victory, the Mustangs had a great deal of difficulty getting started. It was the second half before the boys found their mark and balls started dropping in.

Last Wednesday, they lost a league game at Sam Sharratt 48-29.

Meanwhile, the Girls also saw road action, heading to Burlington for a weekend tourney at C.H. Norton Public School.

After taking one of three games on Friday, the girls came out flying on Saturday, but were on the wrong side of a one point margin in their only game. Stephanie Adams was named the team's Most Valuable Player and Dianne Allan also played well.

The Girls' team also visited Sam Sharratt last Wednesday. Although they played well, they came up short, losing 16-12.

Girls' Volleyball squad bumped after 5-2 finish

In other news, the McKenzie-Smith Grade 6 and 7 Girls' volleyball team travelled to Toronto on the weekend to compete in the Winny the Pooh tournament.

Following an undefeated run of five games on Friday, the Mustangs faced stiffer competition come Saturday.

In their first of two games, the Mustangs faced St. Morden Pores. Failing to come up with the big point in crucial situations hurt the club and they bowed 21-15 to their opponents.

Coupling a 17-12 loss in the second match against Central Park, the Mustangs' hopes for a berth in the championship were all but eliminated.

On Friday, the girls rode a five-game unbeaten streak.

To open the tourney, the Mustangs tied Stewarttown 11-11. The second game in Toronto was against Meadowcrest. They came up big, winning 20-6.

The Mustangs took their momentum into the third match and doubled Doctor C.J. Phillips 16-8. Massy Jr. High were nipped by the Acton school 14-12 in the fourth contest.

In the tightest victory of the day, the Mustangs' opponents from Woburn were on the losing end of a 12-11 decision.

All seven members of the McKenzie-Smith team had an excellent tournament.

The hard working players are: Jennifer Elliott, Kristen Finley, Shari Forbes, Eleni Halis, Kelly Holmes, Stephanie McKay and Sandra Wray.

Local skaters sharp in recent competitions

Acton figure skaters continue to bring home the hardware from various invitational competitions they have attended recently.

Windsor, London and Uxbridge skating clubs played host to the members of AFSC, who stood atop the podium in several events.

Cara McGilloway, 9, placed first overall in the Pre-Juvenile A Ladies Freeskate. She had placed first earlier in the day in her flight 1 to advance to the final round. Rockwood's Candice Timbers was second in the finals in the same event. Timbers, 10, also won her flight to qualify for the skate-off. Stasha Vancek was fourth in Novice Competitive Ladies flight 2 and Cora Routledge placed eighth in Junior Ladies Freeskate flight 2.

Bronwyn Marshall finished first in Pre-Novice Ladies Freeskate flight 4 and placed seventh in the final skate-off. Joy Christopher took home second place in the Senior Ladies Freeskate final.

These skaters all received medals for first to third place finishes in the flight categories sponsored by the Uxbridge Skating Club. Finalists in the skate-off were awarded trophies.

At the Great Lakes Competition in London, Mary Beth Robertson won the First Figure category with Debbie Mashinter taking third place. Caitlin Dick came third in Preliminary Figures.

Krista Petty was second in Novice Ladies Competitive, while Connie Storey came second in Preliminary "B" Solo. Other results were: Preliminary "B" Freeskate — Dick, sixth; Pre-preliminary Elements — Dick, seventh; Preliminary Element program — Debbie Mashinter and Storey, fourth, and Robertson, eighth.

In Windsor, Petty was highest on the podium after placing first in Novice Ladies Competitive with a third place showing in Stroking, sixth in Figures and second in Novice Ladies elements. She also finished second in Team elements in the Novice division with three other team-mates.

Storey was fourth in Pre-Juvenile Team Elements, fourth in single elements, fifth in Pre-Juvenile Stroking and took sixth in Pre-Juvenile Ladies Freeskate.
