Brown shoes and blue suit?

Our beaten bully Pierre Bouchard is now the color guy for the CBC telecasts in French and he's a great guy, but when I shake his hand and my hand disappears in his paw, I think how powerful a little Tascohora Indian must have been.

That was also the year John Zeiglar demanded a meeting between Scotty Bowman and me before a game in Boston, to tell us we must stop the constant war in the press where Scotty would take the video film of the games and pick out where he thought we should have got penalties. He would then call a press conference and show reporters where we should have gotten penalties. This, of course, was a tactic to put pressure on the refs to call more penalties on us. Then he found out that the refs used to skate in the Forum, day of a game at 8 o'clock in the morning to keep in shape. He got there when they were skating and hollered at them, "You won't call penalties on Boston, you don't have the guts." Even more pressure.

I don't know why the refs complained to Zeiglar about me, I was an angel. I remember Scotty wearing a blue suit and a pair of brown hush puppies with the suit. Brown shoes with a blue suit?? I said to myself, as Zeigler was groaning on about how we behaved, "sure I can't lose the Cup to a guy who would wear brown shoes with a blue suit."

That was the same year I said, before the series, that we the Bruins would get screwed against Montreal, because the league wanted Montreal to win.

Boy was John Zeiglar hot about that statement! I remember him phoning me in my hotel room the day of the game. He said, "you can call us stupid, dumb, etc., but you just called us dishonest, and that's too much."

More about Ziegler next week.
