Midget cagers finish 0-9

The Acton Tanner

Harvey Lemon says his Acton Redmen Midget Boys' basketball team could have defeated half the teams they faced this year.

However, only one problem existed — his players couldn't score.

Lemon said at the start of the 1993-94 high school campaign that, in order for his team to win, opposing teams would have to be held to less than 50 points.

Well, they achieved their goal in five of their nine games — including Monday's 49-37 loss to the Aldershot Lions — but ended the season winless at 0-9.

"We got too far behind, but started to come on at the end," said Lemon after Monday's game.

The Lions held quarter leads of 10-7, 22-15 and 32-22 before clipping the pressing Redmen 17-15 in the final quarter.

"We moved the ball well," Lemon conceded, "but it comes back to the idea of getting the ball in the basket. In most games this year we got the shots but didn't have a good shooting percentage."
