

Listen to the Difference

It may take a moment to adjust your ears.

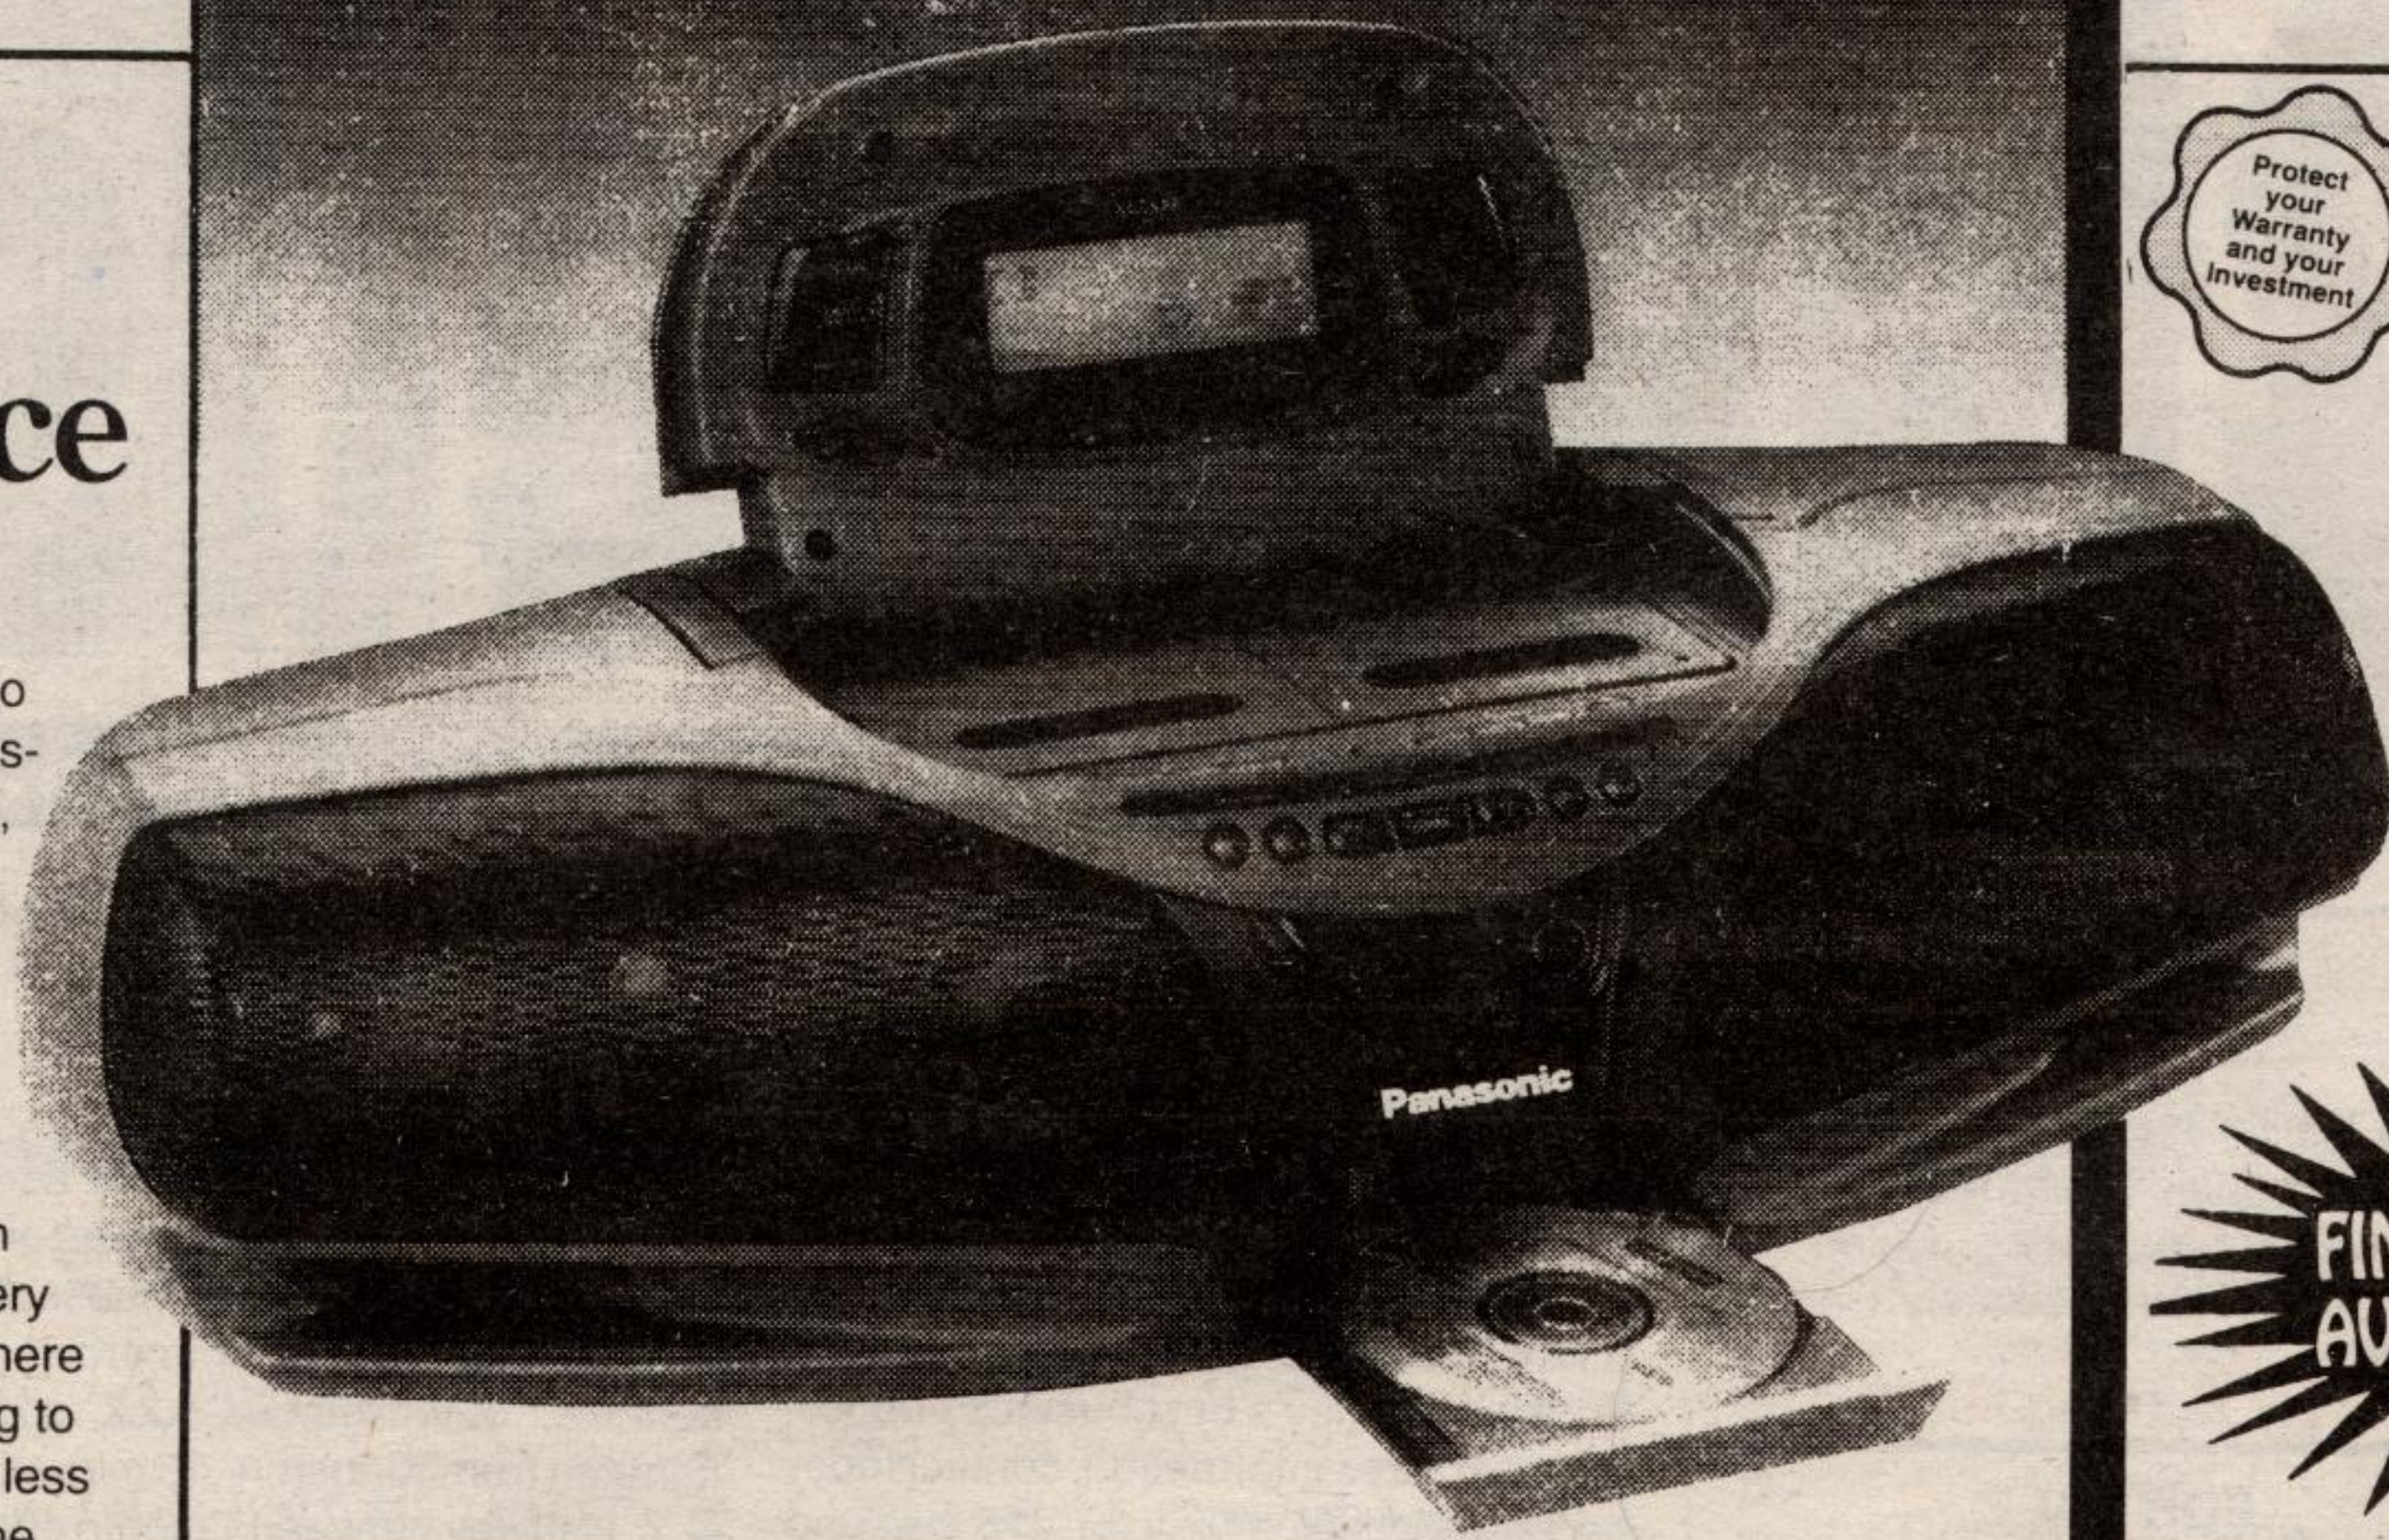

After a lifetime of listening to pre-recorded sound, on less-than-perfect playback units, you may find it difficult to understand the sudden change in your hearing. Please don't panic. The surprise is not surprising. You'll find that you quickly adjust to this new sensation and the results are really very pleasing. In fact, realizing there are times when you're going to have to listen to something less than this superb sound in the future may be the only drawback.
