THE WRATH OF GRAPES

WITH DON CHERRY

This is the Law?

I realize that and that's the way it should be. However, I often wonder when I see a lawyer get a child molester, rapist, or murderer off the hook when the guy has been caught in the act and is obviously guilty, the lawyer springs him on a technicality.

You then see the lawyer walk outside of the court building with his client as proud as can be. The very next day, that criminal might kill a kid.

I wonder if they go home at night and say to their wives, "great day Martha, I got a child molester sprung by a mistake the police made."

When they're alone at night and close their eyes, do they wonder what their client is doing at that very moment and do they (the lawyers) have any regrets?

They probably don't, because what kind of a person would defend those creatures anyhow?

Glass blanks Hillsburgh

MINOR SOCCER NEWS

Joel Petkoff, who was summoned from the Under-13 Select soccer squad, helped the Under-15 Al and Al's Red Brand Meats team earn a 3-3 tie against Hillsburgh last Monday at Erin high school.

Petkoff scored Al's first two goals, the first set up by Bob McDougal and Brian McIntyre on the second marker.

Corey Brock, assisted by Brian McIntyre, scored the other goal.

Al's played an extremely strong game, considering they were outnumbered 11-7 on the depth chart.

A large part of their success at fending off Hillsburgh was the sterling performance of keeper Phil McIntyre, who turned in one of his best outings of the season.
