ACTON FALL FAIR

FRIDAY, SATURDAY & SUNDAY
SEPT. 16, 17 & 18, 1994

We'll see you this weekend!

Forget the baseball strike, and don't even think about the potential NHL lockout — it's Fair time in Acton, and that's all you really need to know!

Since the days of the "Acton Union Fair" in the late 1800s, the fall exhibition has been the social highlight of the year in this community.

This year marks the 81st year for the Acton Fall Fair and just about everyone in town — and many former residents, of course — will be gathering at Prospect Park to reminisce ... and make some new memories, too.

As Fair president Janis Fread has said: "Acton Fair represents all that is good about our community: volunteers who work together for the betterment of the Fair, businesses and individuals who generously support the Fair through sponsorships, exhibitors who come out in great numbers to put forth their very best."

Besides the Friday night Acton Ambassador Pageant, the Saturday afternoon parade and the ever-popular midway, this year's fair promises some new highlights:

PIGEON RACES

Not only does the Acton Fall Fair have Ernestine and Ethel, the pastel pink and green chickens, we also have pigeon races for the feather fanciers! These amazing birds are trained from birth to race home, no matter where they are released.

To learn more about their training, visit the Showcase Stage at 2:30 both Saturday and Sunday and then watch as well over 50 of the birds are released to begin their race home.

PADDLEBOAT RACES

The calm waters of picturesque Fairy Lake are going to be churned up this weekend!

The first annual paddleboat races should be lots of fun to watch as teams of two manoeuvre these cumbersome craft around buoys in the lake, answer the skill-testing questions attached to these buoys and then head for shore in a race against time.

The event is open to all ages. Register now by calling 853-2751 or come to the boathouse dock Saturday and Sunday by the 2 pm race time.

AGRICULTURAL TENT

The popular Agricultural Tent has been expanded to include a varied selection of animals and information.

Watch as a tight huddle of squirming pink piglets suckle, get a first-hand lesson on bee-keeping, pet the gentle ponies.

Outside the tent, hitch a ride on the oxen wagon as these magnificent beasts amble around the fairgrounds.

CRAFT TENT

It's a shopper's delight to wander through the Craft Tent, where 20 selected vendors display and sell their work. Discover all kinds of interesting foods, jewellery, candles and other handmade gifts.

Who would ever think you could get an early start on your Christmas shopping at the Acton Fall Fair!

We'll see you at the park this weekend! (And don't forget the Terry Fox Run at the high school Sunday.)
