THE WRATH OF GRAPES

WITH DON CHERRY

More on Leafs' blunder

Like I said last week, the Wendel Clark trade makes no sense to me — from a Maple Leaf point of view.

Team organizations say the players have no loyalty. Well, how in the world do you expect to have loyalty from the players when you trade away your captain who scored 46 goals, has been with the club since he was 18 and literally carried the team in the lean times?

Wendel Clark — for all his banging and fighting — did have a lot of injuries, but for years it was the world against Clark and boy, did he ever take on all comers. For this he was rewarded with a contract; he got so much money for how many games he played. Did he float to get the money? No way. I asked him that one day. "I can only play one way, Grapes, and I can't float."

More next week!
