

Redmen Seniors fall to Junior Rebels at volleyball tourney

Game 1, the Redmen were the victims of bad breaks and a flawless Rebel attack.

"We were getting the key blocks and with a six-point lead I thought we'd be all right," Redmen bench boss Bob McKay mentioned after his team's 2-0 loss (10-15, 12-15). "It's funny how the game can change.

"The Rebels deserved to win. In two games they only missed one serve. They didn't hit the ball out, they pass served beautifully and they dug a lot of stuff we threw at them.

"But to my gals' credit, they did a lot of things right. The Rebels just had incredible efficiency in their own court."

The Rebels marched ahead 12-9 in Game 2, only to see the Redmen reel off three successive points in a gutsy comeback attempt. However, the visitors then spotted the ball perfectly on a kill, landing it just inside the line and changing the game's perspective.

"Three inches further and it's out, and we go ahead 13-12," McKay explained.

The Redmen opened the round-robin portion of the tourney against the Junior Rebels. Playing at home, the local players' minds began to wander, among other external distractions, and they split with their opponents (16-14, 12-15).

They were then pitted against an anemic Erin squad whom they disposed of handily, 15-3, 15-1 before bouncing the Bishop Reding Royals 15-13, 15-7 to finish first in Pool A.

In playoff action, they made quick work of College Heights from Kitchener with 15-2, 15-1 verdicts and took the Junior Redmen squad 15-8, 15-8 in the semifinal.

NOTES: The Redmen headed into the Christmas holiday having played 32 games and accumulating a 20-12 record ... Here is the Redmen's schedule in January — home to Q.E. Park on Jan. 9; at Iroquois Ridge in Oakville on Jan. 11 and home to Milton District High on Jan. 16.

Sorry, Bobby Millar!

It's a brand new season with the Bruins and here we are playing the New York Islanders, with Al Arbour, my old teammate from Junior days with the Windsor Spitfires.

We have made a few changes over the summer, losing one of our spark players, Davey Forbes. Davey was a penalty killer deluxe, but he wanted to play regular for the Bruins, and he couldn't — so we let him go to Washington. Davey we would miss; he had been with the Bruins for a long time and his number was 14 ... remember that.

So here we are. We've had our warmup, our pre-game talk, game gets started, first whistle. My buddy, referee John MacCauley, skates over to our bench and informs me that I have made a mistake in my lineup. Instead of our new player, Bobby Millar, in the lineup we had put Forbes in his old No. 14. Now this is extremely embarrassing, because this is Bobby's first game as a Bruin. He is from Billerica, Mass., and his whole state is watching back home because he is the only guy on the Bruins from Massachusetts.

I say to John, "Can't you wait till the end of the period?" He says, "Sorry, Grapes, he's got to go now. But I will go over to the penalty box and create a little diversion so you can slip him to the room."

How embarrassing.
