Yesterday's (Tuesday's) snow and cold was a perfect fit for the annual chili dinner at Trinity United church — but it wasn't great for the Cancer Society's volunteer canvassers who planned to hit the streets afterward.

"We'll be out in full force by the weekend, though," assured Acton campaign chair Liz Bailey last night. "For the whole month canvassers will be out in Acton and surrounding rural areas — right up until the end of April."

Bailey is advising any local residents to phone her at home (853-0585) if they are concerned that they might be missed, although "we hope to hit every home in town this year."

Last year the Acton branch raised a total of $56,000, which included a $24,000 contribution from Cancer Month activities and $26,000 from the annual Paul Murr Memorial golf tourney in June.

"This year we hope to raise at least that much again," said the five-year chair.

Please give generously, Acton. And help prove that, once and for all, cancer can be beaten.
