

Second edition of Teal Book is now available

In 1994, with much anxiety, the four Halton information providers undertook to publish the Halton Community Services Directory, a directory that includes information about the government agencies and non-profit organizations that serve the citizens of Halton.

They began the process with no seed funds. Not only were there not enough copies sold within the first month to pay the printer, by the end of the second month, they were sold out!

Two weeks ago, the second edition was delivered by the printer. All the information in the book has been completely updated, the index has been improved and more copies have been ordered.

However, if you are planning to get a copy, don't delay - several hundred were pre-sold before they even went to print.

As before, the directory includes addresses, telephone numbers and a brief description of the services of over 350 organizations that serve Halton. It is of importance to anyone dealing with people-problems, particularly social workers, doctors, clergy, nurses, educators, etc., and an invaluable asset for looking for employment or volunteer positions in related fields.

The Teal Book sells for $25 if picked up and $30 by mail and is available from ASSIC, 853-3310.

VALENTINE'S WINNER: Blue Springs Flower and Gift Shop owner Dot Gould presented Acton's Neil Spencer with a gift certificate on Friday for dinner at Red Dog Café from the shop's Valentine's Day draw. Each person who ordered flowers was eligible to win. (Doug Harrison photo)
