

Acton's 83rd Fall Fair

Just a few images to explain why it's "one of the best little fairs in Ontario!"

Watch for next week's Tanner for more photos from the Fair!

Special thanks to Doug Fread for the use of his photos - major equipment difficulties created problems in our photo department this week.

Another big thank-you goes to Steve Martin, who spent two sleepless nights making the rest of this week's photos for us!
