Local 4-H Member Earns Her Way to Queens

With the increasing costs of post secondary education many young people have this factor added to their list of stresses when they graduate from high school. For one young Halton 4-H member however this financial stress is a little more bearable due to her hard work and dedication. Naomi Lutes of Grand Valley, has recently left home to start her Bachelor of Arts (Humanities) at Queen's University and packed among her clothes and books are multiple acceptance letters for scholarships.

Miss Lutes is one of six recipients of this year's Chernoff Family Award (one of the major entrance awards for Queens University valued at $48,000 over 4 years). Selection for this award is based on a combination of superior academic ability, creative and original thinking, proven leadership qualities and financial need. Preference is given to students from rural and remote areas of Canada.

Also earned by Naomi are the Millennium Excellence Award- Local (value of $4,000 - based on community involvement, extra curricular activities as well as volunteer work), the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario Hoodless Regional Award (value of $350.00 - based on 4-H involvement, academics, extra curricular activities and a submitted essay) and the Merial Canada Ivomec 4-H Youth Scholarship (value of $1,000.00 - based on 4-H involvement and a submitted essay).
