

...excellent Christmas adventure!

Christmas is so much nicer with a fresh tree each year, but let's face it, David, no one likes the fights about how to keep the tree in place. Donna found the solution at Clembrook Christmas farm with their practical yet inexpensive tree holder. They'll even shake the excess needles from the tree, wrap it and drill a hole in the trunk for the stand before helping to load it in your car. Easy as pine and no more arguments.

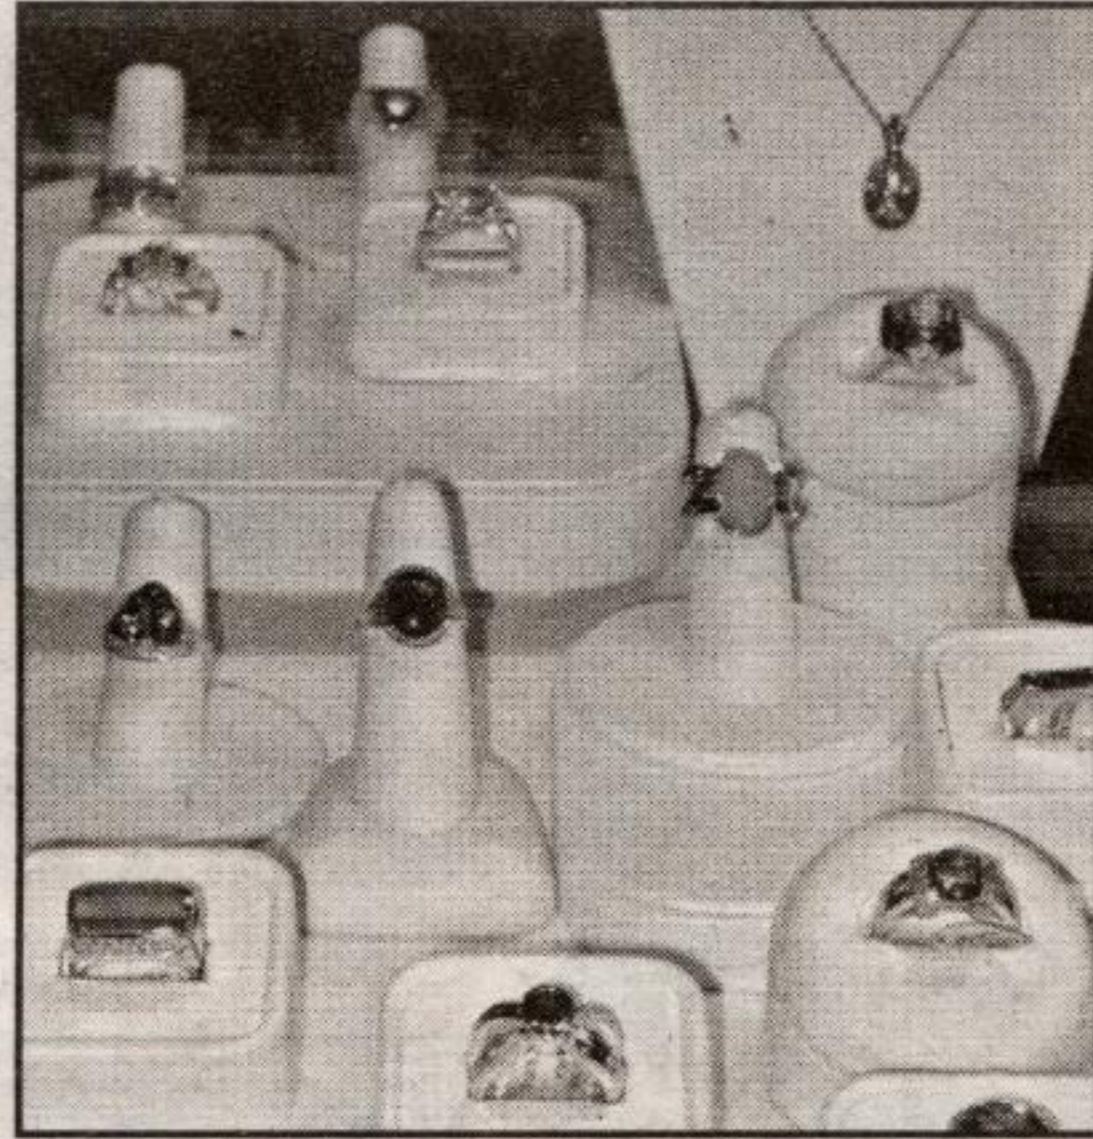

You know guys, one of the hardest parts of the holidays is keeping up with the cooking and the baking and all of the other little touches that make a holiday special. At Crawford Village Bakery in Norval, we found fantastic platters of Christmas cookies, fresh and frozen entrées, and a wide assortment of handmade chocolates that are sure to ease the holiday strain. (We especially loved the chocolate mice!).

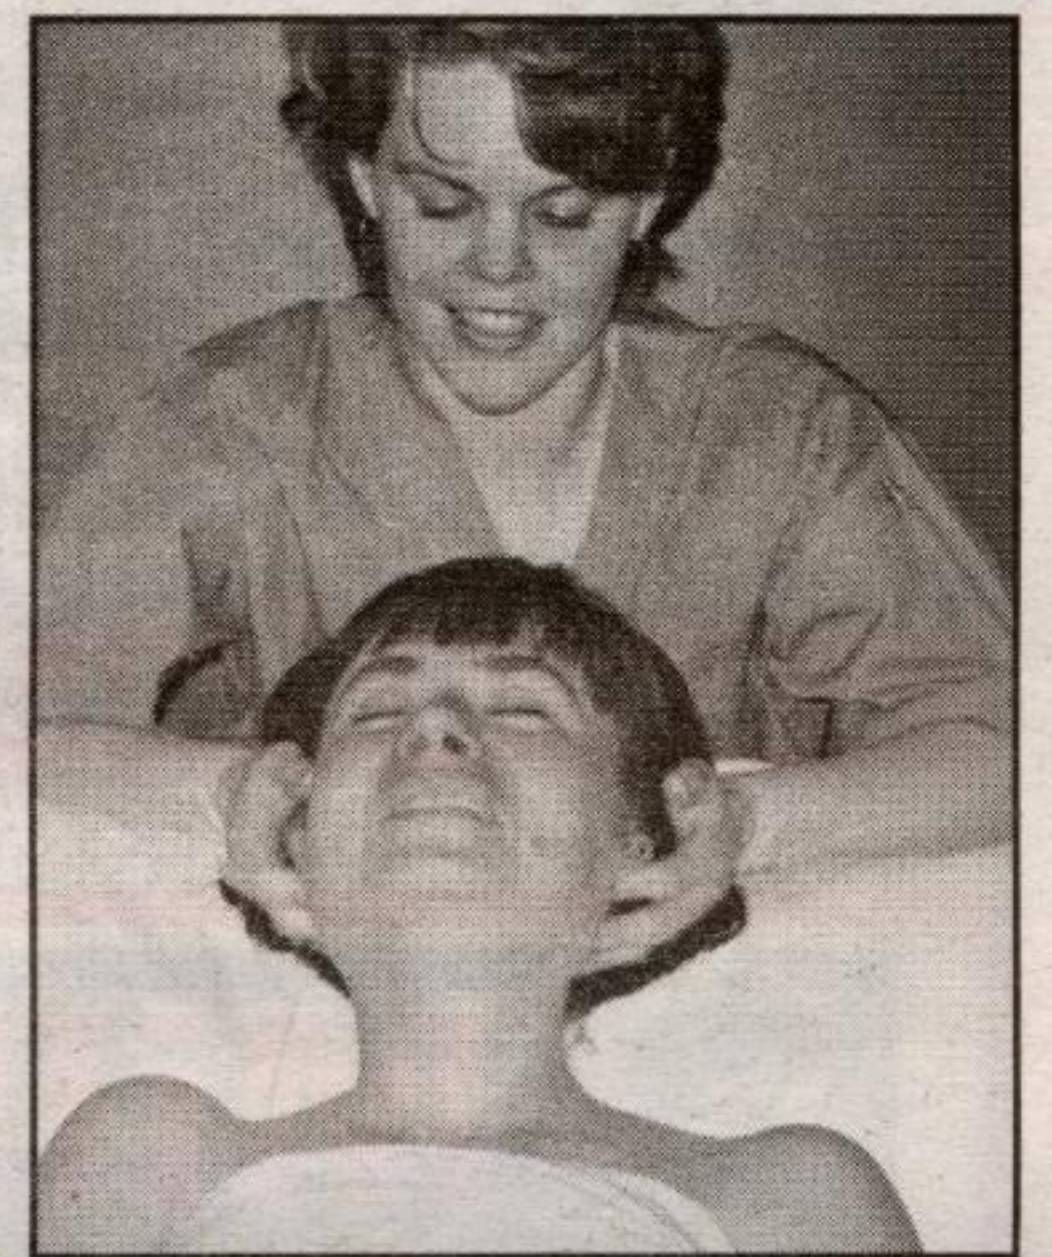

Holiday cooking becomes so much easier with the proper tools, like the great selection of oven ware from Delacourt's in Milton. Knowing how much Donna loves to cook, maybe Santa will leave a few new casserole dishes under the tree this year. Something from Jamie Oliver, the Naked Chef, would be good. Or just Jamie himself - we're not fussy (to do the cooking for us, of course).

What's Christmas without a little tinsel? A little sparkle? We found plenty of sparkle at Georgetown's Fire and Ice Jewellery Emporium. Their new Rare Gem Collection was really enticing. It's a collection of the world's rarest gems to be admired and treasured forever. Not a bad little stocking stuffer, Matt and Dave, for the wives we know that you admire and treasure forever.

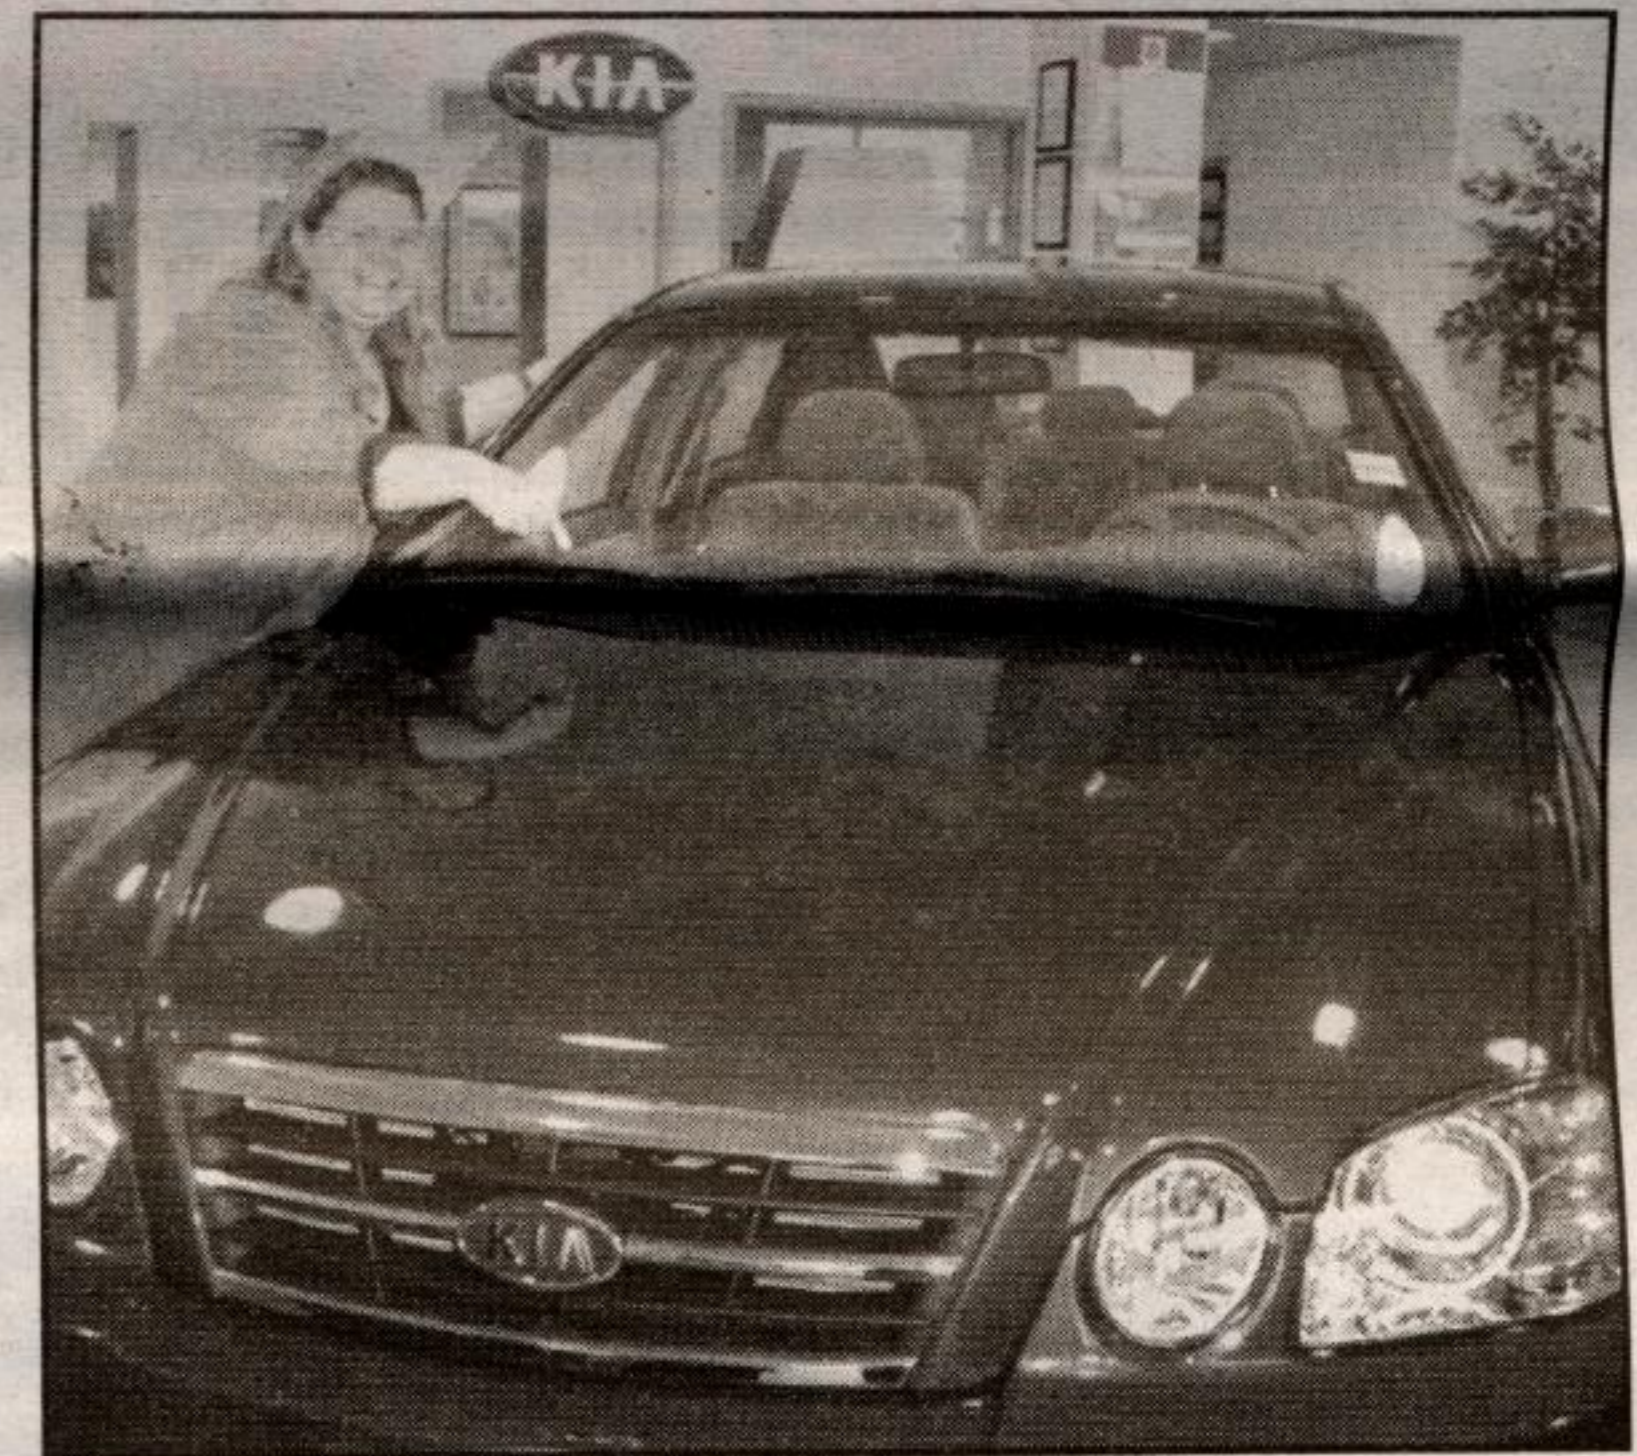

Few things are more welcoming in a home than the just right touches in your decor. While in International Trading Co. in Campbellville, Jennifer couldn't help but sit at this magnificently decorated table and dream of entertaining friends and family in a comfortable, stylish setting.

You can't help but feel pampered at the Blue Springs Spa and Salon in Acton. What better reward for two hard-working and well-deserving wives than a day at the spa that includes a massage with Stephanie Fournier? You know guys, the spa is set up for men's enjoyment too. Massage for two, or maybe your own hair styling in a specially designed area for men only? We could leave the kids at home and spend a relaxing day together at Blue Springs. They even provide a light lunch with certain packages.

Winter roads should be no problem with the quality tires we found at J & D Tire in Milton. When Jennifer's driving Fiona back and forth from school on those blustery days, it will be a comfort to know she's travelling on safe and reliable tires.

The service couldn't have been friendlier at Georgetown KIA. We stopped in to browse in the large showroom of vehicles, and we know that Donna wouldn't be upset to find this radiant ruby 2004 Magentis, LX model, under the tree (hint, hint).

Okay, so maybe most people don't Christmas shop at a lumber store. But you know, David, Donna's always wanted a gazebo just like this one at Leathertown Lumber in Acton. It won't fit under the tree, but it will fit in perfectly in the back yard!
