FEELING BETTER ALL AROUND

Currently, they have about $53,000 available in a $10,000 grant range and are looking to fund programs in a variety of areas including community development, arts and culture, health and the environment.

The deadline for funding applications through the Community Foundation of Oakville is March 15 and September 15 of each year.

"We're looking for long-term gains, we really look to solve root problems," says Baillie.

The Ontario Trillium Foundation receives $100 million annually through the provincial government's charity casino initiative and funds projects that have an impact at the community level as well as province wide.

Grants for those qualify and meet the goals of the organization, which include in part, building healthy communities, strengthening volunteerism and celebrating Ontario's diversity are available up to $75,000 per year to five years.

For more information regarding the Halton Healthy Community Fund, contact Louise Veres, recreation supervisor for the Town of Oakville at 905-845-6601, ext. 3154.
