

Art in its many forms

By DONNA DANIELLI

The first annual Arts Milton Festival is shaping up to be a delight for art lovers everywhere. To be held May 28 at the Milton Fairgrounds, the Festival will feature local artists displaying their many wares in "The Gallery". "It's jam packed, so now I'm putting people outside," laughs event organizer June Hollenbeck of the indoor venue, which will feature a variety of art mediums, including blown glass, abstract art, landscapes, portraits and more. In all, approximately twenty local artisans will be featured within "The Gallery" with more choosing to be located in the Artisan Boulevard just outside.

Local artist Kelly MacIntyre will be setting up an easel on the boulevard and chatting with visitors as she paints. Waldie's Blacksmith Shop will also be represented on the boulevard with their demonstrations of decorative ironwork. And look for the St. Paul's Quilters to set up a quilting rack and demonstrate this intricate and detailed example of domestic art.

The Festival will also feature a wide variety of entertainment, local restaurants participating in the Taste of Milton, children's activities and a finale show featuring world-renowned Elvis impersonator Steve Kabakos and the popular local rock group, Life Time Drive (LTD).
