Not only will the Arts Milton Festival offer fun for the whole family on May 28, but newly lowered ticket costs for the evening's Grandstand Finale Concert will make it even more accessible. Tickets for the extravagant evening of entertainment, featuring local favourites Life Time Drive (L.T.D.) and Elvis Tribute Artist Steve Kabakos, are available for a cost of $20 each for adults, $10 for students and a special package pricing of $50 for a family of four or more.

"We want to make the arts accessible for everyone," explains organizer June Hollenbeck, of the Festival which will offer a wide variety of events at the Milton Fairgrounds. "We wanted to make sure that it was affordable for large families and for young people to come out and enjoy the arts." A packed schedule of entertainers, artisans and children's events will be available free of charge throughout the entire day, with only the evening concert requiring a ticket.

The Grandstand Finale Show begins at 7:00 p.m. with L.T.D. taking the stage for what is sure to be a high energy display of classic rock. "We've got to get the crowd going for the next performer, so they have a running start," explains L.T.D. guitarist Alex Frank of the band's plans to capture the audience right from the start. Lead singer for the band Steven Demetrious is quick to concur, adding that "You have to get the crowd on their feet and make sure they're having a good time right from the beginning." Look for L.T.D. to perform not only a variety of rock cover tunes, but also a number of their own original songs as well.

World renowned winner of the 2001 Images of the King World Competition Steve Kabakos will immediately follow L.T.D. for a captivating two hour portrayal of the King. "This is really exciting for us," says June. "It will be really amazing to see Steve perform that night with his entire twelve-piece ensemble."

The Arts Milton Festival will also offer activities and entertainment throughout the day free of charge, as well as a "Taste of Milton" culinary display that will feature tasting samples from local restaurants for a small charge. Tickets for the Grandstand Finale Show are available at the Dorland Haight Galleries, 144 Main Street and at the Vacuum Store, 785 Main Street. Tickets will also be available at the door if still available. For more information, please call 905-875-1751.
