Campbellville turns Ninety One years young!

By ANN KORNUA

It was a scorcher of a birthday in the village where residents turned out in the heat for the birthday festivities last weekend where Campbellville turned ninety one years old. Magicians, dancers and even a fashion show entertained the citizens of the rural village. There was something offered to everyone who came out to get involved in the birthday celebration.

Saturday evening highlighted hot local talent from country singing sensation Alysha Brooke performing in the parking lot outside of Pro Clips. To add to the heat, Brodie Leather and Design displayed their fine leather creations in a fashion show on the Saturday evening. In the heat of Sunday, MP Garry Carr along with Mayor Gord Krantz of Milton and Councillor of Ward Three Cindy Lunau helped cut the cake with Campbellville's honorary mayor Charlie Parchem and resident Alice Smith.

It was a sizzling good time ringing in ninety one years for the village of Campbellville.
