

Yellow fish program

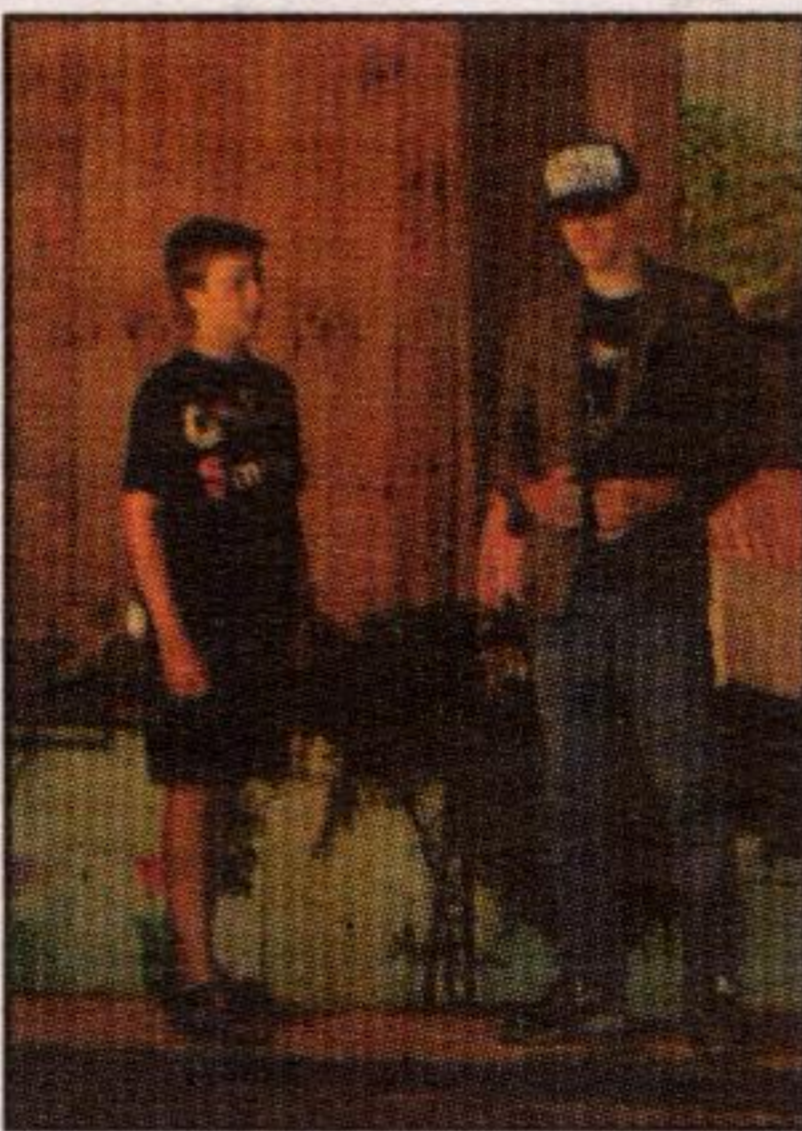

PHOTO BY DONNA DANIELLI

Storm drains empty directly into local streams and the "Yellow Fish Road" Storm Drain Marking Program seeks to remind everyone of that fact. Materials poured down storm drains are usually not treated, allowing pollutants such as pesticides, car oil and more to enter local streams quickly. Young volunteers in Milton have taken on the task of marking storm drains with a painted yellow fish, a visible reminder to residents to take care what they wash down the drain. Shown here are volunteers Mike Komljenovic (holding his sons, two year old Ivan and 10 month old Lucas) and Rob Neshevich. For more information about the "Yellow Fish" program, check out Conservation Halton's website at www.conservationhalton.on.ca or call Pesticide Alternatives for Milton at 905-693-9837.

Mimosa 4-H Drama Club takes to the stage

What happens when an exclusive girls' camp gives refuge to the ragamuffin boys' camp from across the lake? Well "Guess What I Did Last Summer?" a rollicking musical romp through the escapades of these campers answered that question. On Thursday July 21 the Mimosa 4-H Drama club's 26 members performed this musical in the Mimosa Church shed. Historically this shed has hosted a youth group every summer for over 50 years in the annual Strawberry Social tradition. Under the direction of June Switzer, Carol Pollock and Emily Sloan the 4-H Drama club has been rehearsing since early in the year at the Mimosa Church. All members were on stage and in the technical crew, some racing between sound and stage to make the magic happen. One of the highlights of the show was the transformation of three young gentlemen from Camp John Smith into a Motown ladies singing group to hide from the owner of Camp Pocahontas!
