

Pictured here at the Halton Federation of Agriculture Annual Meeting and Banquet are, left to right, Halton Regional Councillor Barry Lee, Halton Federation of Agriculture President John Opsteen, Ontario Federation of Agriculture Director Harry Brander, Halton Hills Mayor Rick Bonnette, Halton Regional Councillor Clark Somerville, Halton Regional Councillor Cindy Lunau, and guest speaker and Wellington Regional Councillor David Lyons.

Halton Hills Papers Parliament Hill Report

MICHAEL CHONG, M.P. FOR WELLINGTON-HALTON HILLS

This will be the first in a two-part installment on the CBC.

Although the recent dispute between CBC management and the Canadian Media Guild is over, the public broadcaster's problems are not.

Before I dissect the CBC's problems and suggest potential solutions, let me tell you where I stand on the CBC. I am committed and always have been to the CBC's role as a public broadcaster. Indeed, in 1932 it was a Conservative government under Prime Minister Bennett that created the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission (CRBC), the forerunner to the CBC. The CBC has had a historical role in promoting Canadian voices and linking the disparate and often remote parts of the country together. It is a role today no less vital.

However, while many parts of the corporation are meeting their public broadcasting mandate, others are not. RDI, the CBC's French language network, is generally meeting its mandate; French-Canadian programming is pervasive on both the radio and television side of RDI (although the recent "dumbing down" of French language programming, exemplified in the decision to replace its supper time newscast with lighter programming is cause for concern). CBC Radio One and Two are also generally meeting their mandates as public broadcasters; while one may take issue with editorial direction and a "Toronto-centric" bent on Radio One and Two, both deliver non-commercial Canadian programming to a wide audience. Likewise with CBC Newsworld; it too is generally meeting its public mandate to provide news and information from a Canadian point of view.

However, the biggest part of the CBC, CBC Television, is also its biggest problem. CBC Television accounted for 40% of the $873 million that Parliament gave the CBC last year, and despite this money CBC Television is clearly not meeting its public broadcasting mandate. There are too many commercials and not enough relevant programming. These commercials are needed to pay for expensive Hollywood shows (like "The Simpsons" which has nothing to do with Canadian culture and content) and for expensive sport broadcasts like Hockey Night in Canada (which private broadcasters resent, since the CBC outbids them for hockey rights using taxpayer dollars). As a result, CBC Television has been acting like a private commercial broadcaster: chasing ratings and advertising dollars in a vicious cycle that produces mediocre programming no different than any other station on the dial. For these reasons, CBC Television needs to be overhauled so that can meet its public broadcasting mandate.

In our next column, we'll look at some solutions to fix these problems.

We can be contacted at chongm@parl.gc.ca or toll-free at (866) 878-5556.

Thank you to our vendors and our customers for another successful season of the Milton Chamber of Commerce Farmers' Market!

Last market is this Saturday, October 29th.

rae baron NCTMB, RMT is pleased to announce that Maggie Van Luven, RMT will join her massage therapy practice, starting Monday, October 31, 2005.

New extended clinic hours are:

Monday	9am - 10pm
Tuesday	12noon - 8pm
Wednesday	12noon - 8pm
Thursday	9am - 10pm
Friday	9am - 5pm

Offering Swedish massage, craniosacral therapy, manual lymph drainage, and reflexology.

Call today to book an appointment

905.878.9041

250 Satok Cres., Unit 11
Milton L9T 3P4

BARROW FAMILY CHIROPRACTIC

Dr. Angela Barrow
180 Ontario St. S., Milton
905-878-4994

CHIROPRACTORS with Compassion
healing hands reaching out to children's hearts

SALE! SALE! SALE!

Ultra Computerized Demand Water Softener System
*$1,299 INSTALLED

Classic Cactos

VISA
MasterCard
Interac

723 Main St. E., Milton
905-876-1991
*BASIC INSTALLATION ONLY

Details for your home

pictures • mirrors • accent furniture • home decor

Making your house a home is all in the Details

NEW

Details for your home

15 Martin Street, Carriage Square
Milton (corner of Main & Martin)
905-864-1276

