Police warn of scam

Halton Regional Police Service has received numerous calls regarding an organization known as the Police Retirees of Ontario. At present this group is soliciting funds within Halton Region for a circus to be held later in the year.

The police want the public to be aware that this organization is in no way affiliated to, or endorsed by the Halton Regional Police Service.

Police remind consumers that when making any purchase they should be aware of what they are purchasing and where their money will go.
