Teens and Alcohol
I AM often asked about teens and alcohol and what offences they are committing.

The main offence police deal with involving teens and alcohol falls under Section 30(8) of the Liquor Licence Act: persons under 19 years having liquor which means just having liquor in their possession. The next is also under Section (30)8: being under 19 years consuming liquor.

The fine for these offences when an offence notice is issued by an officer is $105.00.

The next question is: How and where do they get the alcohol?

The answer is: Anywhere they can! One way is false identification, which is an offence under Section 31(2) with a fine of $105.00, or they can take it from their parents liquor cabinet, have older siblings or friends obtain it for them, or just stand in front of the beer or liquor store and ask someone to buy it for them.

The person who supplies liquor to a person under 19 years or to a person who appears to be under 19 years are also charged under Section 30 Subsections 1 through 4 of the Liquor Control Act and there is no set fine for these offences. The person charged must appear before The Provincial Offences Court.

The maximum fine for an individual convicted under these offences is $200,000.
For a Corporation convicted under these sections, for example a bar, the maximum fine is $500,000.
