

Hide House buys Price Check Bldg.

The former Price Check food store on Mill Street has been purchased by the olde Hide House.

The building, vacant since the bulk food store closed in June 1999, belonged to Sobey's, which also owns Price Check and IGA. Sobey's also owned the Foodland store that operated in the Mill Street building until 1997.

Olde Hide House president Steve Dawkins said they don't have any "set long-term plans" for the property.

"We're going to be using it for some warehouse-type space in the interim," Dawkins said on Tuesday, as workers began cleaning the store.

Dawkins said he doesn't know what the long-range plans for the building are, adding it was purchased as an investment.

LUCKY WINNERS: This colourful playhouse/garden shed featuring glass windows, window boxes and latched door will be enjoyed by the Conroy family from Guelph for years to come. Trudy and Chris and their two boys Dylan and Nicholas, were the winners of the playhouse donated to the Acton Agricultural Society by Peter Zions Construction. The draw, which was held at the Acton Fall Fair, generated over $1,500 towards the Building Our Future fundraising campaign. - Janis Fread photo

AN ALTERNATIVE TO PROZAC?

Are you concerned about the possible side effects of Prozac? Nature has a solution for your anxiety or depression without any known side effects. Studies have shown that St. John's Wort is quite effective in relieving anxiety and emotional difficulties. In fact, in Germany St. John's Wort is being prescribed for these mental problems about 20 times more often than Prozac.

In addition, this great herb is also effective for gastro-intestinal disorders such as stomach ulcers. It is also a muscle relaxer which has been used in the treatment of severe menstrual cramps. (ref. "Earl Mindell's Herb Bible" by Earl Mindell, R.P.H., Ph D.)
