

Fall Registration Guide

So Many Choices... So many different activities to sign up for Healthy living involves maintaining an active mind and body.

Children today often get wrapped up in their technology and exercise tends to go by the wayside. However, the businesses and groups listed in The New Tanner's Fall Registration Guide offer some great opportunities to involve the kids in organized and well supervised physical activities.

Make this the year to try something new. Some organizations, such as the Acton Aqua Ducks Swim Club, offer a chance to try it out before signing up.

Kids can learn to curl, just like mom and dad, at the Acton Curling Club. They're offering Kids Kurling for children as young as six!

And of course, there're the Scouting and Guiding groups, which offer a wide variety of physical activities, crafts and good life skills for boys and girls from ages five to fifteen.

Another popular form of exercise, combined with self-discipline, is the martial arts. Both U.K.A. Self Defense Canada and Acton Jiu-Jitsu offer a variety of classes for children of all ages. These classes not only increase physical fitness, but also provide a well-rounded experience in the self-disciplinary skills including self respect, self esteem and concentration.

Active children will be challenged and receive a good base in hockey skills at the Power Plus Hockey at the Acton Arena and Community Centre this fall.

New owners have recently taken over Whitney Stables and they offer a full range of activities including carting, dressage and jumping as well as hacking. There is an outdoor sand ring and an indoor arena, with a heated viewing room for parents. Beginners are welcome. All that's needed to start is a sturdy pair of shoes with a heel and the stable will provide a helmet.

Not everyone is interested in sports and strictly physical pursuits, so for those who are more inclined towards the arts our local businesses and organizations offer a variety of artistic opportunities as well.

The Acton School of Dance offers ballet classes for children as young as three and at the end of the semester, everyone looks forward to the final recital when all the students are dressed in their colorful ballet costumes! Also offering a wide selection of dance classes, as well as exercise and fitness classes is Flamingo Dance & Exercise Studio (part of Downtown Spa & Relaxation Centre). Teens will be interested in the Back to School Specials featuring facials, manicures and more.

For a wide selection of dance and skating costumes and accessories, visit Sue's Place. Anyone can learn to paint beautiful home accessories under the careful instruction of the staff at Paintin' Friends. They offer classes for the absolute beginner to the advanced painter, and supplies can be purchased right there at the shop. The Guelph School of Art is the place to go if you're interested in learning artistic painting techniques, covering water colours, oils and acrylics. Instruction is provided by an eclectic selection of qualified teachers.

Voice and piano lessons are provided by Toddler Group Music Classes, which offers instruction for children ages six and up. This is just a selection of the many opportunities offered for leisure activities in our community. Halton Hills Community Support and Information continues to run the popular Drop In Centre for teens in Acton as well as offering many opportunities for parents and children at their Resource Centre.

Refer to the Town of Halton Hills Fall and Winter Community Activity and Service Guide for more sports and leisure information.

Make this the year to indulge yourself!
