

MAY: Some of the many volunteers who devote their time and talent to local organizations receive volunteer recognition awards from the province.

Looking back at 2001

Leathertown Centre adjacent to its Eastern Avenue store, and instead has leased space for a new store in downtown Toronto.

- Eight men who gave a total of 149 years of volunteer firefighter service to Acton are honoured at a retirement/recognition dinner.

- The environmental cleanup of the old Esso station continues as Esso made the property in the centre of Acton surplus to its needs and puts it on the market.

- Acton's Emmett O'Rourke is named an Acton

Community Champion for his faithful service to a wheelchair bound friend who he takes out for coffee daily.

- The proliferation of group homes in Acton is debated as the public gets a look at the Town's proposed bylaw to govern the location and size of future group home facilities in Halton Hills.
