Bantam 'A' Tanners draw Dundas

By Chuck Tysoe

The Acton Bantam 'A' Tanners have drawn Dundas for their first-round OMHA playoffs, and will face the Blues, a team they match up with very favourably, at home this Saturday at 4:30, to begin a best-of-five set. Acton hockey fans, come out and support this talented and entertaining group of young men, as they begin what all concerned hope will be quest deep into the provincial playoff picture. The team has a lot to play for; besides each other and the love of the game, there is still the lingering bad taste of being ruled ineligible for last years playoffs, for no apparent good reason, after representing this province and country admirably in their successful central European Tour.
 Led by a dedicated staff of head coach Bill Manes, Kelly McArthur, Matt Boycott and Mike Guindon, this team lost only three regular season games and twice in tournament play, both of the latter coming by one goal in championship games.

 The team is anchored in goal by the diminutive but courageous Jordan Guindon and the demonstrative Brett Hurtle: a pair of talents few teams can match, tutored by goalie coach and fitness guru Mike Guindon, who also leads the team in dry-land training sessions. Versatile Troy Ethier, a Halton Hurricanes veteran, can play both defense and forward, as can Greg Boughton, one of the team's steadiest and most dependable players. Matt Freckleton, also a newcomer this year, has added depth and a good forechecking game. This team can strike with dazzling quickness from the likes of Pat Collins, Matt Bronizewski and Mark Boycott, and also play a heady, cycling buzz-the-net forechecking game with Kurtis McArthur, Al Dube, Jon Tysoe and Freckleton. Captain Jason Beatty provides quiet leadership and hard work in every zone.

 After a late-season 5-5 tie with Oakville, coach Guindon lamented that five goals should be enough to win, but the boys need to learn that the few shifts after a goal are as important as the score itself. Acton has the talent to go far, but can't afford any shifts off. Acton's depth has to go deeper than their opponents, and without question there is plenty of latent ability on this team capable of lifting the group to a new level of success.
 Good luck boys.

Tyke Selects win again

By Judith Kirkness

The Acton Tyke Select Team played at home in Guelph on the 12th, and got back on the winning track by defeating Hespeler, Hespeler are a Super Seven Rep. Team, but Acton defeated them by a score of 2-1.
 Coach Dave Morris shook up his line-up for the game, moving some forwards back and some defencemen up. The team also welcomed Paul Kutasienski, who joined the team to play defence. Mitchell Christopher started the game in net and did well, shutting Hespeler out for his half game. Acton scored first to open the second period, as Walter Kirkness took a pass from Brett Banks and skated down on the break-away, putting the puck over the goalie's shoulder and into the net. Tyler Christopher also drew an assist.

 Acton scored again midway through the second, as Brett Banks sent Greg Wells and Walter Kirkness in on a two on one. Wells drew the defence-man to the side and made a perfect pass to Kirkness who buried it behind the Hespeler goalie for his second goal of the game, giving Acton a 2-0 lead.
 Alexandra Green came in for her half game, and made a number of good saves. Hespeler were able to score a single goal to make it 2-1, but that was how it ended, as Acton hung on for the win. After the game, Coach Morris praised the players for playing well and adapting to their new positions.
 Next home game is Sunday February 3 at 5:30 pm at Memorial Arena, Georgetown. The team is sponsored by St. Andrew Poultry.
