The Acton Agricultural Society is taking orders for their rich Black Gold all natural compost and delivery is free when ordered by the yard! Acton and surrounding area can order the compost ($40/yard) by calling 853-5245 or 836-5024. Deliveries will be done the weekend of May 4. All proceeds to the Building Fund.

Highway Clean-up

The Rotary Club is coordinating their annual highway clean up this weekend. Volunteers who are willing to spare a couple of hours to help with this very worthwhile project (great for students looking to complete their 40 hours) are asked to meet at Tim Hortons, Saturday, May 4 at 8am. Work gloves and supplies will be provided. Call 853-0239 for more information.

Conference for unemployed women

OPTIONS: The Conference That Works For Women is returning to Halton for the third consecutive year on Tuesday, May 28 and Thursday, May 30. Free of charge, the two-day conference is geared to women in Halton who are currently unemployed or underemployed and are looking to learn more about the options available to them in today's workplace.

Close to 300 women have explored work and training options at the conference since its inception in 2000, many of whom credit the program for their subsequent personal and professional growth. Conference coordinators Debra Perris and Judy Henderson of Perris Training and Development contact all of the participants four weeks and 16 weeks after the conference to measure the effectiveness of the program.

Following last year's OPTIONS conference, 90% of the attendees had developed an action plan, 51% had pursued further education or training and 34% had found work or started their own business.

Located at the Holiday Inn, 3063 South Service Road in Burlington, the two-day conference features panel discussions, small group workshops, information sessions and displays and internet demonstrations. The event kicks-off with a humorous look at life, stress and the importance of enjoying the process of change with Carol Bertuzzi-Luciani, a well known keynote speaker from Oakville.

Participants will also hear from four women who have successfully managed life and career transitions; two of whom have attended OPTIONS and credit the experience as being integral to their current success. Experts in the fields of employment, training and career management will share their expertise in a panel presentation.

Women interested in attending the conference must pre-register. Space is limited and registration fills quickly, so those who are interested in attending OPTIONS are urged to call as soon as possible to avoid disappointment. Transportation to the conference in Burlington is available from other Halton communities.

This conference is sponsored by Human Resources Development Canada, Halton Region, Peel Region and The Centre for Skills Development and Training. To register, or for more information, call Halton Region at (905) 825-6000, extension 4176. Toll free 1-866-4HALTON (1-866-442-5866). Information on OPTIONS can be found at www.optionsconference.ca and brochures are available at Human Resources Centres, Halton Region Headquarters, 1151 Bronte Rd., all local libraries and various other locations in the community.
